The “AbeBooks International Co-op Award” was established in September 2009. It is awarded to one Business or Computer Science co-op student embarking on a Spring international work term.

This award, in the amount of $600, has been established by AbeBooks, Inc. Although a subsidiary of Amazon.com, Inc. Abebooks remains a stand-alone operation with headquarters in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada. More than 110 million new, used, rare, and out-of-print books are offered for sale through the AbeBooks websites from thousands of booksellers around the world.

AWARD CRITERIA

In keeping with Abebooks’ strategy to use technology as a business tool to develop a successful global business, the “AbeBooks International Co-op Award” will be awarded to a Business or Computer Science student enrolled in the co-operative education program, who is embarking on an international work term. The following criteria will be used to select the recipient of the award:

* The learning opportunity the placement will provide
* Relevance to the student’s area of study
* Relevance to the student’s career aspirations
* Location of worksite
* Level of remuneration from the employer
* The student’s level of financial need

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants will be required to submit a statement of intent outlining why they qualify, based on the above criteria, for the Abebooks International Co-op Award, and will be encouraged to append other supporting documentation such as a cover letter, transcripts, letter of reference from a previous employer, or a letter of support from their Co-op coordinator.

The deadline for application for the Abebooks International Co-op Award is the third Wednesday in December.
