ELEC 572 – Security, Privacy, and Data Analytics

Term - Summer 2017 (201705)

Instructor
Dr. Samer Moein
E-mail: samerm@uvic.ca (put ELEC 572 in Subject line)

Office Hours
Days: Wednesday (12:00-2:00)
Office: EOW 403

Course Objectives
1. To explore the foundations of information security and privacy issues from an engineering perspective.
2. To learn analytics and statistical techniques and methodologies in information security

Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of this course you will acquire the following skills:

1. Deploy analytics and statistical packages, tools, and applications.
2. Simulate security events and scenarios.
3. Apply concepts, techniques, and methods to quantify levels of security and privacy required and achieved.
4. Use established protocols and procedures to countermeasure adversaries and attack.

Syllabus
1. Introduction to Cryptography
2. Public Key Infrastructure
3. Secure Network Architecture
4. Securing Network Components
5. Secure Communications and Network Attacks
6. Security Threats and Countermeasures
7. Cyber Incident Response
8. Incidents and Ethics
9. Managing Identity and Authentication
10. Introduction to Security Analytics
11. Analytics Software and Tools
12. Access Analysis
13. Analytics and Incident Response
14. Simulations and Security Processes

Lectures
Sections: A01/CRN 30376 & A02/CRN 30377
Days: Monday & Thursday
Time: 13:00 – 14:20
Location: Cunningham Building (CUN), Room146
Required Text

Authors: M. Talabis, R. McPherson, I. Miyamoto, J. Martin, and D. Kaye.
Publisher: Elsevier.
Year: 2015.

References: Conference and journal articles

Notes: Lecture notes by Dr. S. Moein.

Note to Students: Students who have issues with the conduct of the course should discuss them with the instructor first. If these discussions do not resolve the issue, then students should feel free to contact the Chair of the Department by email or the Chair’s Secretary to set up an appointment.

Accommodation of Religious Observance:

Cheating, plagiarism and other forms of academic fraud are taken very seriously by both the University and the Department. You should consult the entry in the current Graduate Calendar for the UVic policy on academic integrity.

Equality: This course aims to provide equal opportunities and access for all students to enjoy the benefits and privileges of the class and its curriculum and to meet the syllabus requirements. Reasonable and appropriate accommodation will be made available to students with documented disabilities (physical, mental, learning) in order to give them the opportunity to successfully meet the essential requirements of the course. The accommodation will not alter academic standards or learning outcomes, although the student may be allowed to demonstrate knowledge and skills in a different way. It is not necessary for you to reveal your disability and/or confidential medical information to the course instructor. If you believe that you may require accommodation, the course instructor can provide you with information about confidential resources on campus that can assist you in arranging for appropriate accommodation. Alternatively, you may want to contact the Resource Centre for Students with a Disability located in the Campus Services Building. The University of Victoria is committed to promoting, providing, and protecting a positive, and supportive and safe learning and working environment for all its members.

Course Lecture Notes

Unless otherwise noted, all course materials supplied to students in this course have been prepared by the instructor and are intended for use in this course only. These materials are NOT to be re-circulated digitally, whether by email or by uploading or copying to websites, or to others not enrolled in this course. Violation of this policy may in some cases constitute a breach of academic integrity as defined in the UVic Calendar.
