

School of Health Information Science

The School of Health Information Science will accept APA and ICMJE formerly Uniform Requirements reference formats. Ask your instructor about preference.

The American Psychological Association

The American Psychological Association (APA) publication manual is the style manual of choice for writers, editors, students, and educators in psychological, social and health sciences literature (i.e. journals and texts). It provides invaluable guidance on all aspects of the writing process, from the ethics of authorship to the word choice that best reduces bias in language. The APA quick guide provides users with information about paper formats, citations, endnotes/footnotes, references and manuscript writing.

ICMJE formerly Uniform Requirements

The International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE) developed these recommendations, formerly the Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts, to review best practice and ethical standards in the conduct and reporting of research and other material published in medical journals, and to help authors, editors, and others involved in peer review and biomedical publishing create and distribute accurate, clear, reproducible, unbiased medical journal articles.

References should follow the standards summarized in the ICMJE Recommendations for the Conduct, Reporting, Editing and Publication of Scholarly Work in Medical Journals: Sample References webpage and detailed in the NLM's Citing Medicine, 2nd edition.
