Study of the Spanish exploration and depiction of the Pacific Northwest, including the coastline of British Columbia, during the 18th century, as presented in the diaries of explorers such as Francisco de la Bodega y Quadra, Pere d’Alberni and Gonzalo Lopez de Haro and in the letters between them and authorities in Spain and New Spain (modern-day Mexico).

Prerequisites: Minimum second-year standing.