

MA Linguistics - Student Progress Report (Preamble)

Assessment of Student Progress

According to a new provision in the UVic Faculty of Graduate Studies Graduate Supervision Policy (Section 5.11), formal assessment of student progress must be carried out at least annually. Under this policy Linguistics graduate students meet with their supervisory committee to discuss progress in the program minimally once a year by the end of April. The supervisory committee may also have a follow up meeting. Around the same time, the student and their supervisor will prepare the attached progress report together, and submit it to the Graduate Advisor no later than April 30. The original report will be placed in the student's file within the department; copies will be given to the student and their supervisor.

Frequency of assessment

The FGS formal review process requires that your supervisory committee assess your progress to date as 'satisfactory' or 'unsatisfactory' on a measure of the factors outlined below. If progress is deemed to be satisfactory (see below), the next assessment is to be carried out one year later, at the end of the Spring semester (April). If progress is deemed to be unsatisfactory (see below), the student's progress will be assessed again at the end of the Fall term (December). Consistent with the FGS Graduate Supervision Policy (Sections 7-8), the committee will support students to achieve satisfactory progress, through regular meetings and consultation.

Unsatisfactory reports

Following an unsatisfactory report, the supervisor in consultation with committee members will establish a set of requirements and expectations attached to a concrete timeline for the student's work, with the understanding that these must be met by the following assessment (see Appendix). If the student meets these expectations, the student's progress will be deemed satisfactory. If the student does not meet these expectations, the student's progress will again be deemed unsatisfactory. Following two unsatisfactory reports, the supervisor may recommend that the student withdraw from the program. If the student does not withdraw voluntarily, the graduate advisor (together with the supervisor) may recommend to the Dean of FGS that the student be withdrawn for failing to meet academic standards (see FGS Graduate Supervision Policy, subsections 6.15, 7.16, and 12.3).

Written student feedback

The student may provide written feedback on the progress report. If you wish to do so, please send your feedback directly to the Graduate Advisor and/or chair within two weeks of receiving the report. The Graduate Advisor will then communicate with the student and the supervisor to discuss the student's options (see Unsatisfactory reports section above).

Summer funding allocations

Linguistics graduate students who are not externally funded (e.g. through SSHRC) and who meet the UVic funding eligibility criteria (<https://www.uvic.ca/graduatestudies/finances/home/retainfunding/index.php>) are eligible for summer FGS funding, when this funding is available. Summer FGS funding allocations will not be released until the Student Progress Report has been submitted. Late submission may result in the student not being eligible for summer funding.
