Symposium: Teaching European Integration in British Columbia

Date: October 23, 2015.  8:30am-3:00pm
Location: Vancouver Technical Secondary School, 2600 East Broadway, Vancouver

Symposium: The European Union in a World of Conflict
This symposium will explain the evolution of the European Union, and assess how it has managed the risks or shaped the forces of globalization. Experts will explain aspects of European integration, Canada-EU relations, and EU crisis management, as well as offer pedagogical guidance for incorporating this subject matter into existing curricula. This symposium is part of a major conference, Living in a World of Conflict, hosted by the B.C. Social Studies Teachers Association. The conference attendees – secondary and post-secondary instructors – will benefit from focused content on European integration and the European Union, as well as facilitation of curricular development that links Europe to the B.C. secondary curriculum and post-secondary courses. Seminars are facilitated by leading experts on the European Union, including:

- Kurt Huebner (Jean Monnet Chair for European Integration and Director of the Institute for European Studies at the University of British Columbia)
- Valerie D’Erman (Instructor with the Department of Political Science at the University of Victoria)
- Conrad King (Instructor with the Department of Political Studies at Capilano University and Director of the Network for European Studies (Canada))

For more information on registering:
https://bcssta.wordpress.com/10-2/

This initiative has been made possible through a grant from the European Commission, and with the support of The European Union Centre of Excellence, University of Victoria
The Network for European Studies (Canada)
The Department of Political Studies, Capilano University
The British Columbia Social Studies Teachers Association