

Lecture book cover competition

Got an eye for a great photo? Enter the Department of Chemistry's photo competition to have your work featured on the cover of one of the 2015/16 first year chemistry lecture books. We're looking for fantastic images that fit the themes "Properties of Materials" (101) and "Environmental and Physical Chemistry" (102). See below for examples from this year – a loose fit to the themes is fine, but we are looking for some chemistry in there.

Chem102 2015

Submit entries as high resolution .jpg files to chemedia@uvic.ca by 28 February 2015; please include a little bit of background about the photo (where you took it, what the subject is). When you submit your photo(s) please let us know if we have your permission to: use the photo for the lecture book (if it's a winner); and to post your entry on the Chemistry Facebook page. The competition is open to all chemistry students, staff, faculty and alumni.
