Do you need learning assistance help and money to pay for it?

- tutoring
- learning strategist support
- notetaking

- RCSD learning assistance examples: http://www.uvic.ca/services/rcsd/assistance/index.php

You can apply for $ if:

- you are student loan-approved
- have a permanent or chronic disability

Check out other side for how
CSG Application Process

Week 1
- Determine your CSG request for the term and fill out the Permanent Disability Programs Application

By week 3/4
- Get quotes

By week 6
- Find out your student loan # and Social insurance #

By week 8
- Complete a grant application with your advisor

By week 8
- Mail your application

Wait for approval letter and your money if you are approved

After the term is over, submit receipts and repeat process next semester

After finals are over

Week 15

Start here:

Find out the services you are eligible for on the PDPA application
- Link to PDPA for BC residents

Get a quote for each service you are using.
If accessing the LAP programs a quote will be given directly to your advisor.
If accessing private services provide private quote to your advisor
- Link to quote form for private service providers

Make sure all sections are completed on the PDPA form. Your student loan number will be a 2016-____# or P-2016____#
Your Social insurance # will be a 9 digit #
If you don’t know, check your student loan dashboard at www.studentaidbc.ca

Bring quotes to your advisor and complete the application.
1st timers, attach your disability documentation

You can mail the original, signed in ink to Student Aid BC

Student Aid BC will mail you a letter telling you if you have been approved.
If yes, they will mail a cheque to your advisor.
Your advisor will contact you when your cheque arrives.

Connect with the LAP (if accessed) and pay for services used.
Mail back receipts and unused funds to Student Aid BC

* Note: grant deadlines for students from other provinces may be different. Check with your provincial student loan funding Ministry for more details