Ms. Charette briefly reviewed Mr. Zsolnay’s biography.

Prof. Cassels disclosed that the appointment of a new Vice-President Research would be publicly announced shortly.

Prof. Cassels provided Board members with an update on government and community relations, including recent visits by a number of ministers to campus.

He said that the Minister of Advanced Education Amrik Virk had come to campus for the second time this fall and had spent over two hours on campus learning more about the university.

Prof. Cassels reported that the Minister of Environment Mary Polak had visited in mid-December. He reported on meeting with several other government officials.

Federal:

President Cassels reported that Uvic graduate and Minister of State for Science and Technology for Northern Ontario Greg Rickford had recently been on campus to announce a substantial federal contribution to the Ocean Networks Canada Innovation Centre. The letter had received $4M to assist with the commercialization and technology transfer initiatives.

International:

Prof. Cassels explained that there had been a discontinuity between government policy in relation to international students and their experience. He said that governments had been enthusiastic about international recruitment but had recently passed regulations required that anyone giving immigration advice be certified, which had the unintended effect of shutting down student advice centres on campuses. He said that the university would be putting some temporary solutions in place including hiring consultants and training staff.
UVic:

Prof. Cassels reported that the faculty salary arbitration from the 2012-2014 contract had concluded and salary adjustments would all be implemented by January 31. He thanked the staff in Payroll and the Office of the Vice-President Finance and Operations for their hard work to expedite implementation of the changes.

He announced that going forward there would be a new set of negotiations in a new environment as members of the Faculty Association had recently voted to become a certified union. He said he would work to maintain the very special collegial environment that UVic is known for.

Prof. Cassels reported on his “Campus Conversations” initiative. He said that he was working on implementation of the priorities and next steps for continuing the conversation. He said he would be enhancing internal communications – the need for this having become apparent during the consultations.

Prof. Cassels provided an update on Influenza and H1N1 activity on campus. He said the issue continued to grow although not to the level of anxiety and concern as a number of years ago. He said the university had reinstated policies from four years ago to deal with the threat of a widening H1N1 influenza, including advising faculty and staff not to come to work if they have the flu and not requiring students to get doctors notes to miss class.

Prof. Cassels reported on a number of awards. He announced that biochemistry student Dylan Collins had received a Rhodes Scholarship.

Prof. Cassels reported that several weeks before Dr. Ian MacPherson had passed away, Senate had approved an honorary degree for him. The degree had been presented posthumously at a wonderful celebration of his life.

Prof. Cassels announced that Dr. Verena Tunnicliffe, the Director of VENUS, had received the Vancouver Aquarium Award for Excellence in Aquatic Research and Conservation.

Dr. Brunt announced that Associate-Professor Emmanuel Brunet-Jailly of the School of Public Administration had received two major awards that would impact 50-60 students, the SSHRC partnership award of $3.7M, and the European Union Centre of Excellence Award.

Dr. Tremblay announced that Board of Governors member Barbara Whittington would be receiving the 2014 Provost’s Advocacy and Activism Award. She said that Prof. Whittington was truly deserving of this award.

Prof. Whittington said that UVic student Jessie Housty would be receiving the same award.

Prof. Cassels announced that the Provost’s Diversity Research Forum would begin the following day. He said that UVic would be hosting the Royal Society of Canada Governor General’s Lecture Series with a lecture by Dr. Patrick Keeling.
Ms. Charette noted that the following week would mark the beginning of Alumni Week with events for alumni both in town and out of town. Prof. Cassels said that the week would include the Distinguished Alumni Awards hosted by himself and Chancellor Murray Farmer, and would end with a President's Run.

Dr. Brunt announced the upcoming IdeaFest from March 3-8 and encouraged Board members to participate.
