3. BUSINESS ARISING FROM THE MINUTES

Mr. Tony Eder offered some follow up remarks to the university rankings presentation provided at the January meeting. He described the methodology used by different rankings and explained how this affected UVic’s rating. With respect to trends in rankings, Mr. Eder noted that UVic’s score in the Times Higher Education rankings had been increasing, although its overall placement was dropping.

4. REMARKS FROM THE CHAIR

a. Report on the Acceptance Declined Survey

Dr. Tremblay reminded members of Senate of the discussion at the November meeting when she provided an update on enrolment. She explained that a consultant had been hired to conduct a survey of students who declined the university’s admission offer. Dr. Tremblay reported the results of the survey, reviewing the key factors around decisions to decline – location, program, reputation and funding. She reviewed comments from respondents regarding their thoughts around scholarships, cost of attendance, campus visits, and marketing and communications efforts.

Dr. Tremblay said a number of initiatives were underway to build competitive recruitment services. Mr. Dunsdon reported on a few of these, including changes to the entrance scholarship program, development of Discover, a program aimed to inform students and parents of what UVic has to offer, and focus groups with high school students regarding the top factors around decisions to decline.

b. Update on Percentage Grading

Dr. Tremblay updated members of Senate on the work undertaken with respect to percentage grading since the November Senate meeting. She said an extensive discussion had taken place at Deans’ Council in January regarding the timeframe for implementation, the impact on stakeholders during implementation and potential risks. Dr. Tremblay said the deans had requested more information for review at a future meeting. She said a more fulsome report would be made to Senate following further discussion at Deans’ Council.

c. Overview of Draft Updated IT Governance Structure

Dr. Turpin said that, during the discussions regarding percentage grading and other initiatives, the question of how to ensure institutional priorities are being met through the IT governance structure was raised. He explained that Dr. Tremblay and Ms. Gayle Gorrill had engaged in a planning process to develop an updated structure.

Mr. Paul Stokes provided a presentation the draft updated IT governance structure. He provided an overview of the objectives of the governance review and the challenges associated with the current governance structure. Mr. Stokes reviewed the changes being proposed, which included creating new committees, realigning and adding sub-committees, and clarifying roles and responsibilities. He reviewed the role of the proposed committees and discussed next steps. Mr. Stokes encouraged members of Senate to provide input on the proposed changes, which were still in draft form.

Dr. Baer commented that some universities have Senate committees to consider IT matters. Dr. Turpin thought the proposed governance structure included a committee that would consider matters related to Senate. Ms. Gorrill confirmed that as the governance structure evolved, there would be continued assessment of the effectiveness of the committees. Dr. Tremblay added that there would be reporting mechanisms built into the structure.

In response to a question from Ms. Sutherland, Mr. Stokes confirmed that there would be student representation on the committees. Mr. Bell commented that the IT systems at UVic were superior to those at other universities he had attended. Dr. Keller said the proposed changes were significant and thanked those involved for their work.

Dr. Turpin reminded members of Senate that there was still an opportunity to provide feedback. He encouraged them to pick up a document outlining the proposed changes.

d. President’s Report

With respect to federal matters, Dr. Turpin said the Association for Universities and Colleges of Canada continued to advocate for increased funding for granting councils, as well as additional funds for investment in international marketing for student recruiting, and scholarships and financial assistance for indigenous students.

Dr. Turpin reported that in January the Canada Foundation for Innovation had announced $3.4 million in funding to UVic from its Leading Edge Fund in support of research in the areas of materials science and engineering innovation and commercialization, and cabled ocean observatory technology.

Regarding provincial matters, Dr. Turpin provided an update on the Research Universities’ Council of BC Opportunity Agenda for BC. He referred members of Senate to the newspaper articles that had been distributed.

Dr. Webb asked if the changes to the online admissions system had made a positive impact on applications. Ms. Charlton reported that undergraduate applications were tracking higher than this time last year. She added that it was only midway through the applications cycle; therefore, it was not possible to draw any conclusions yet.

In response to a question about the Opportunity Agenda for BC, Dr. Turpin said the university’s enrolment targets did not take into account the proposals outlined in that document.
