- Accomplishment statement

This is the heart of a skills-based résumé. Include descriptive accomplishment statements from your education, work and volunteer experiences. Whenever possible, quantify your statements to give the hiring manager a sense of the depth and breadth of your experience. Instead of listing duties, use action verbs to describe accomplishments that are relevant to your objective. Group your statements into three or four subsections that are relevant to your objective. Ensure that it is clear which experience each statement connects to.

INTERESTS

- A list of three to six interests or activities

Interests is an optional section. Highlight interests and activities that relate to your objective but also feel free to add other less related interests. Keep this section short – one or two lines.

REFERENCES

Name of reference, position
Organization, location (city)
Phone number
Email

You can include your references or have the statement "References available on request". If the names of your references will be known to the reader and add to your credibility, you may want to include them. If you do not want to distribute your references contact information too widely, you may want to keep them as on a separate document and provide them when requested.

Name of reference, position
Organization, location (city)
Phone number
Email

Your references should be three to four people who know you well from work, education or volunteer experiences. Work references are often the best. Make sure to ask permission before you list someone as a reference.
