Workshop: Planning and preparation for community-engaged learning courses

Friday, April 13, 2018
9:00 a.m. — 12:00 p.m.
Harry Hickman Building, Room 128

Are you a faculty or staff member participating in, or wanting to learn more about, community-engaged learning (CEL)?

This workshop will focus on the planning phase of course development and provide an opportunity to workshop your own project in small groups.

Explore tools and resources including:

- Prepare students for experiences in the community
- Design courses to integrate community experience
- Allow space for community experiences to shape curricula
- Form partnership agreements that benefit all participants
- Timeline, project planning and ethics resources

Learn from several real-life CEL projects and hear from community partners at Volunteer Victoria and Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

Register through the LTSI website.

For more information contact: Rhianna Nagel (sosccel@uvic.ca)

---

Thank you to all workshop partners: this event is organized by staff from the Faculty of Social Sciences, Faculty of Education, Volunteer Victoria, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, Co-operative Education Program and Career Services, and the Office of Community-University Engagement.