February 14 – 17, 2019 Delta Ocean Pointe Resort, Victoria, BC, Canada

An international conference addressing Information Technology and Communications in Health (ITCH)

Part A – Copyright Agreement

This agreement form is intended for original, previously unpublished submissions made to the Information Technology and Communications in Health (ITCH 2019) conference.

Title _____

Author(s) _____

The undersigned hereby transfers any and all copyrights without limitation in and to the above titled paper, abstract, or poster (herein call the Work) to the ITCH 2019 Steering Committee and IOS Press (herein called the Committee and Publisher). By making this submission, the undersigned promises that the article is their original work, has not previously been published, and is not currently under consideration by another publication. The undersigned also promises that the article does not, to the best of their knowledge, contain anything that is libelous, illegal, or infringes anyone’s copyright or other rights. If the Work contains material that is someone else’s copyright, the undersigned promises that they have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner to use the material and that the material is clearly identified and acknowledged in the text. The undersigned asserts that they have the power and authority to make and execute this agreement.

Returned and Retained Rights

1. Employers (or authors) retain all proprietary rights in any process, procedure, or article of manufacture described in the Work.
2. Employers (or authors) retain the right to use their own Work (provided they acknowledge the published original in standard bibliographic citation form) in the following ways, as long as they do not sell it in ways that would conflict directly with the efforts of the Committee and Publisher to disseminate it.
 - 2.1 They are free to use their Work for internal, educational, or other purposes of their own institution or company. In the case of work performed under a contract or grant, the respective government has royalty-free permission to reproduce all or portions of the Work, and to authorize others to do so, for official government purposes only, if the contract or grant so requires.
 - 2.2 They may use the Work, in whole or in part, as the basis for their own further publications or spoken presentations.
 - 2.3 They may mount the final version of their Work as published on their own, their institution’s, company’s, or funding agency’s website. They can order the final published version of their article from the Publisher for a fee.

The Committee and Publisher will always associate the names of the employers (or authors) with any publications of their Work that has been authorized by the Committee and Publisher. Except for necessary editorial changes, the Committee and Publisher will not make substantial alternations to the Work without consulting the employers (or authors).

In the event that the Work is not accepted or is withdrawn by the employers (or authors) before acceptance, this agreement becomes null and void.
