We are pleased to announce that this project has recently received funding by Vancouver Foundation's Youth Homelessness Initiative.

Through this “mapping” project, we aim to learn:

- ❖ What helps - and what hinders - youth in/from care to complete high school and/or become engaged in post-secondary education?
- ❖ What strategies are being employed in BC and elsewhere that focus on foster youths' connection and successful completion of high school?
- ❖ What approaches and/or practices - including systemic innovations - are promising to help youth in/ from care who are currently disconnected from high school to become (re)connected?

The project will be guided by an Advisory Committee with expertise in education and issues for youth in/from care.

The project will run from January – fall 2015.
