Course Description:
This course examines the major achievements in Greek and Roman archaeology throughout the Mediterranean. Covers periods from the Bronze Age through Roman period by focusing on material culture. Emphasis is placed on the changing relationship between humans and their environment as expressed in material objects, including cities, sanctuaries and works of art. Includes the history of the discipline, chronicling major discoveries in Greece and ancient Rome.

Course outcomes/objectives:
• Train students to communicate their knowledge and opinions effectively in essays, test answers, and classroom discussion.
• Use archaeological and historical evidence to gain a better understanding of the Classical world.
• Gain knowledge of basic archaeological methods and theory.
• Gain knowledge of how the archaeological evidence can be used to shape the present in different historical periods.

Course Pre-/Co-requisites:
• None

(This online outline is not the official course syllabus and is intended to give an overall sense of the course only. Detailed course outlines will be made available to registered students on the first day of class)