Course description:

If you know a little Spanish or none at all, Spanish 100A is the place to begin. You will learn essential vocabulary and basics of Spanish grammar. This course involves regular 50 minute-classes three times a week.

At the end of Spanish 100A, the student will be able to write and read short sentences using the present tense.

This course is part of the backbone of Spanish grammar for subsequent learning of the language. After completion of Spanish 100A, you will be prepared to continue to Spanish 100B.

Proposed evaluation:

Assessment may include quizzes, attendance/participation, midterm exam and final exam. Grade breakdown will vary from year to year.
