

Topics in Algonquian Linguistics Poster Session

Thursday April 9, 2015, 12:15 – 1:45 pm
David Strong C108

If a Word is Whistled, Is it Still a Word? An Analysis of the Kickapoo Whistle Speech System
Victoria Giaschi, Amanda Milligan

The Proximate and Obviative in Ojibwe Language Learning
Carmen Craig, Gabby Johnston

An Analysis of the Split-Phonology Hypothesis in Michif: Sociolinguistic and Phonological Perspectives
Matthew Fitzsimmons, Alexah Konnelly, Sarah Provan, Alison Root

Exploring the Form and Function of Reduplication in Algonquian Languages
Kelly Roux, Kimberley van der Pijl

Direct and Inverse in Mi'kmaq Transitive Verbs
Dianne Friesen

Mass/Count Distinction in Plains Cree and Michif
Laura Davis, Laurence Godard, D'Laine Robertson-Hooper

Comparing Cross Dialectal Medials in Cree
Beth McConnell, Rachael Wieners

Is Grammatical Animacy Predictable? Evidence from Fox and Penobscot
Niki Lockwood, Sophia Kuhn

Syntactic Sentience: A Comparison of Blackfoot, Ojibwe and Japanese
Alex Cuerdo, Kelly Regan, Mariko Takimura

