EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The 2022 First-Year Student Survey marks the 28th cooperative study undertaken by the Canadian University Survey Consortium/Consortium canadien de recherche sur les étudiants universitaires (CUSC-CCREU). Over 15,000 students from 44 universities across Canada participated in the survey.

Profile of first-year students

- The majority of students were female, 18 or younger, single, without children, and Canadian citizens.

- Slightly less than half self-identified as a visible minority, while 4% identified as Indigenous.

- About one third of first-year students reported having a disability or impairment, with mental health being the most common.

- Students are split almost equally between living with family and living independently.

- One in 10 first-year students are first-generation students; that is, neither parent had any post-secondary education.

Motivation for attending university

When rating the importance of 15 reasons that motivated them to attend university, the top reasons tend to be career-oriented. The top and bottom reasons are shown below.

TOP 3 REASONS
More likely to get a job with a degree	89%
To prepare for a specific job or career	86%
To get a more fulfilling job	86%
BOTTOM 3 REASONS
Most friends are going	18%
Didn't have anything better to do	17%
Chance to participate in varsity athletics	12%
Choosing a university

Three quarters of first-year students applied to a university other than their current one, while 1 in 6 applied to a college. Despite this, 8 in 10 were attending their first-choice university.

Among 18 factors for selecting their specific university, students rated the program they wanted to take much higher than other factors. The top and bottom factors are shown below.

TOP 3 FACTORS
Has program wanted to take	87%
Academic reputation of the university	64%
City/town university is in	59%
BOTTOM 3 FACTORS
Where family wanted them to go	17%
Where friends were going	12%
Chance to participate in varsity athletics	11%
Among 19 sources of information students may have used to decide which university to attend, only one source was rated as important/very important by more than half of students. The top and bottom sources are shown below.
TOP 3 SOURCES
University website	54%
Parents	41%
Students attending university	40%
BOTTOM 3 SOURCES
Globe and Mail Canadian University Report	12%
University's Facebook site	8%
Contact with university athletic coaches	8%

Orientation

Half of first-year students participated in orientation this past year. Among those who participated in orientation, most were satisfied with aspects related to orientation.

Registration

Overall, students were satisfied with aspects related to registration, with around 8 in 10 students indicating they were satisfied or very satisfied with each of two aspects.

Expectations and experience

First-year students rated 15 experiences as to whether these were less or more than what they expected. Results seem to indicate that students are more likely to be surprised about the academic challenges of university (e.g., time to put into their coursework and how demanding their courses are) and cost-related aspects (e.g., cost of going to university and debt to complete program).

When asked to summarize their overall experiences to date (as shown in the graph to the right), first-year students were about equally as likely to say their university experience exceeded versus fell short of their expectations.

- Exceeded 16%
- Met 65%
- Fell short 19%
Transition to university

Generally, the majority of students indicated they found some or very much success in each of 18 areas of transitioning to university, with the exception of becoming involved in campus activities, which may not be surprising given the restrictions for on-campus activities imposed due to the COVID-19 pandemic during the 2021-22 academic year.

Educational experiences

Students rated their satisfaction with various educational experiences:

- The majority of students reported positive relationships with professors, with at least two thirds agreeing with each statement, with the exception of taking a personal interest in academic progress. The top and bottom experiences with professors are shown below.
TOP 3 EXPERIENCES WITH PROFESSORS
Treat students the same regardless of race	97%
Treat students the same regardless of gender	97%
Seem knowledgeable in their field	95%
BOTTOM 3 EXPERIENCES WITH PROFESSORS
Provide useful feedback	71%
Provide prompt feedback	66%
Take personal interest in academic progress	49%

- Nine in 10 first-year students said they were given the chance to evaluate the quality of teaching in their courses, although just 4 in 10 said they were able to evaluate the teaching in all their courses.

- The majority of first-year students agreed that they were generally satisfied with the quality of teaching they received.

Commitment to completion

Several measures were used to gauge students' commitment to completing their program at their university. Agreement with each statement is shown below.

Willing to put a lot of effort	94%
Normally go to all classes	87%
Plan to come back to this university next year	86%
Plan to complete degree at this university	82%
Most courses are interesting	82%
Course load is manageable	77%
In the right program	75%
Had adequate info about program before enrolling	75%
Have finances to complete program	74%
Can deal with stress	66%
Have good study habits	62%
University degree is worth the cost	62%
Plan to transfer to another university next year	10%
Plan to go to college/CEGEP next year	8%

PRA

Overall evaluation of student experiences

- Almost two thirds of first-year students were satisfied with the concern shown by the university for them as an individual.

- Close to 9 in 10 first-year students were satisfied with their decision to attend their university.

- Using the Net Promoter Score calculation, where detractors are subtracted from promoters, universities have a score of +1.
Goal development

- Three quarters of first-year students said they had already selected their major or discipline. About 3 in 10 were planning on applying to a professional program or graduate school after completing their degree.

- Overall, one third of first-year students have a specific career in mind, while another third have several possible careers. Despite many having a career (or two) in mind, just 1 in 5 said they know their career options very well.

- Slightly less than 9 in 10 first-year students have taken at least one step to prepare for employment or a career after graduation, although they have most often talked to people about it.

Satisfaction with facilities and services

Satisfaction with facilities and services used by at least 25% of students is shown below.
Academic profile

Examining students' academic profiles shows that the majority are attending full-time, began their post-secondary studies this academic year at their current university, did not transfer from another institution, and reported an average grade of B- or higher.

Current employment

About 4 in 10 first-year students were employed at the time of the survey, most often off campus. Among those who were employed, the typical student worked 17 hours per week, with about three and a half times more students reporting that their employment had a negative impact on their academic performance.

Financing education

Close to 6 in 10 first-year students indicated they had at least one credit card. Among those students who have credit cards, the vast majority reported that they pay off their balance each month. Among those with an unpaid balance, the average credit card debt is over $3,000.

Overall, 6 in 10 first-year students said they received a financial award from their university. Among those who said they received an award, one-third said they would not have been able to attend university without this financial assistance.

Course delivery and assessment module

First-year students' experience and satisfaction with various instructional methods are shown in the graph below.
First-year students' experience and satisfaction with types of courses that had an experiential learning component are shown in the graph below.
First-year students' experience and satisfaction with methods used to administer course assessments are shown in the graph below.
1.0   Introduction

Since 1994, the Canadian University Survey Consortium/Consortium canadien de recherche sur les étudiants universitaires (CUSC-CCREU) has coordinated surveys of students attending member institutions and facilitated sharing of the survey data among its member institutions. The surveys and shared data have the following four broad purposes:

- Offer students an opportunity to assess their university experience.
- Provide access to a broad base of comparative and collective data on the Canadian university experience, including measures of student characteristics, experiences, participation, expectations, and satisfaction.
- Manage and provide reliable, consistent data to track over time the quality of the post-secondary experience as perceived by students in order to assess institutional strengths and educational outcomes and inform decisions about needed improvements.
- Contribute to accountability reports to institutional governing bodies, governments, and the public.

This is the 28th cooperative study undertaken by CUSC-CCREU. Prior to 2014, the surveys ran in a three-year cycle, targeting first-year, graduating, and all undergraduate students in separate years. In 2014, the all-students survey was changed to a survey of middle-years students (i.e., students in the second or third year of a four-year program, the second year of a three-year program, or the second to fourth years of a five-year program).

Table 1 shows the number of participating universities for first-year students. The final questionnaire for the 2022 First-Year Student Survey can be found in Appendix A.

1.1   Methodology

1.1.1   Surveying students

Each university supported the study by generating a sample of qualifying students. In some cases, universities provided all qualifying students, while others provided a random sample of students. PRA was responsible for programming and managing the online survey. This involved liaising with the participating universities, preparing the introductory and reminder emails to students, and responding to student questions about questionnaire content, as well as technical questions about using the online survey.

1.2   Response rates

Table 2 shows the response rates by university, which ranged from 10.4% to 65.3%, with an overall response rate of 30.9%. This yielded 15,157 students who completed the survey.[1]

[1]   PRA defined a completed survey as a student who answered up to the Living Arrangements section (approximately 80% of the questions).

1.3 Weighting

In order to compensate for the discrepancies between the population of first-year students among participating institutions and the sample population, the results in every section and every table (except tables in Section 1) in this report have been weighted. The applied weights are shown in Table 3.

1.4   University comparisons

For comparison purposes, participating universities are categorized into three groups, shown in Table 4.

- Group 1 consists of universities that offer primarily undergraduate studies and that have smaller student populations.

- Group 2 consists of universities that offer both undergraduate and graduate studies and tend to be of medium size in terms of student population.

- Group 3 consists of universities that offer both undergraduate and graduate degrees, with most having professional schools as well. These tend to be the largest institutions in terms of student population.

1.5   Statistically significant differences

Large sample sizes may inflate measures of statistical significance and may lead to false conclusions about the strength of association. The chi-square measure of association, in particular, is susceptible to this possibility. Therefore, the standards for determining whether a relationship can be termed statistically significant have been increased: the Pearson's chi-square must have a probability of a type 1 error of less than .001, and either the Phi coefficient or Cramer's V must have a value of.150 or greater. Throughout this document, any differences reported meet these criteria, unless otherwise stated.

Table 5: Criteria for statistical significance
Test	Level for significance
Pearson's chi-square	<.001
Phi coefficient or Cramer's V	.150 or higher

1.6   Non-response

Non-responses have been excluded in the analyses. Therefore, throughout this report, unless explicitly stated as a subpopulation, overall results exclude those who did not respond to a particular question.

2.0   Profile of first-year students

2.1   Personal profile

- About twice as many females as males completed the survey, which aligned closely with the population of first-year students.

- The average age of first-year students was just over 19, although the majority were 18 or younger. Students attending Group 1 universities were older on average than those at Group 2 or Group 3 universities.

- Given students' ages, it is not surprising that few reported being married or having children. Likely related to their age, Group 1 students were most likely to be married and have children. Visible minority students were more likely than non-visible minority students to be single (85% versus 70%).

- The vast majority of students are Canadian citizens, with about twice as many international students as permanent residents.

- Almost half of students self-identified as a visible minority. Few self-identified as Indigenous. Students at Group 2 and Group 3 universities were most likely to self-identify as a visible minority.

- The older a student is, the more likely they are to be a permanent resident, married, and have children.

2.2 Disabilities and impairments

About one third of first-year students report having a disability or impairment, with mental health being the most common. However, 1 in 10 students (about one third of those with a disability) indicate it impacts them daily.

- Women (36%) are more likely than men (21%) to self-identify as having a disability or impairment.

2.3 Living arrangements

Half of first-year students live with their family, while those living independently were most likely to be residing on campus. Among those not living on campus, nearly 1 in 3 would have preferred living on campus.

- Group 1 students were most likely to be living independent from family, while Group 2 students were most likely to have preferred living on campus.

- Visible minority students were less likely to be living on campus than non-visible minority students (24% versus 37%).

- Students aged 22 and older were less likely to report living with family or in on-campus housing and more likely to be living in their own home or in off-campus (rented) housing. They were also less likely to want to live on campus if given the opportunity.

2.4   Parents' education

One in 10 first-year students are first-generation students; that is, neither parent had any post-secondary education. In contrast, almost twice as many first-year students had at least one parent who completed a graduate degree.

- Students who self-identified as visible minority were more likely than non-visible minority students to be first-generation students (15% versus 9%).

- The older a student was, the more likely they were to report being a first-generation student.

3.0   Motivation for attending university

3.1   Importance of reasons for going to university

Results show the three most important reasons for going to university are all career-oriented motivators, followed by motivators related to learning and education.

- Students who self-identified as a member of a visible minority (64%) were more likely than non-visible minority (45%) students to rate to meet their family's expectations as important or very important for motivating them to attend university.

- The younger the student was, the more likely they were to rate to meet their family's expectations or to meet new people as important or very important.

3.2   Most important reason

After ranking each motivator individually, first-year students were asked to select the most important reason for why they decided to attend university. The top three reasons were all job related, with preparing for a specific job or career selected most often.

4.0   Choosing a university

4.1   Applications

Three quarters of first-year students also applied to a university other than the one they were currently attending. On average, they applied to about two universities. About 1 in 6 students also applied to a college or CEGEP. Despite many students having applied elsewhere, 8 in 10 were attending their first-choice institution.

- Group 2 students were most likely to have applied to other universities, while Group 3 students were most likely to have applied to a college/CEGEP. In spite of these differences, the proportion who were attending their first choice is similar across groups.

- As students get older, they are less likely to apply to other universities in Canada.

- Students 20 to 21 years old were most likely to have also applied to a college/CEGEP.

4.2   Selecting their university

Students rated the importance of 18 reasons in their decision to select their university. When the factors were ranked by the proportion who answered important or very important, most students say that their university has the program they wanted to take.

- Group 2 students were more likely than Group 1 or Group 3 students to rate the program they wanted had a co-op, practicum, or other work experience and it offered a scholarship as important.

- Group 3 students were most likely to say they selected their university because of the city/town it is in and the availability of public transportation.

- Visible minority students were more likely than non-visible minority students to rate the program having a co-op, practicum, or other work experience (58% versus 39%) and availability of public transportation (55% versus 36%) as important or very important.

- Generally, the older a student was, the less likely they were to rate each factor as important, with the exception of having the program they wanted to take, the academic reputation of the university, and cost of tuition and fees, which were similar across age groups.

4.3 Most important reasons for selecting their university

Among the 18 reasons, students were asked to choose the one that was most important for selecting their university. Foremost, students said that their university has the program they wanted to take, which was chosen two and a half times more often than the second highest reason.

- Group 2 students put much more emphasis on the program they wanted had a co-op, practicum or other work experience relative to Group 1 and Group 3 students.

4.4 Selecting their university (international students)

International students (identified through information supplied by each university) were asked to rate the importance of five aspects that might specifically attract students from outside Canada. Results indicate that international students placed more importance on the academic reputation of Canadian universities in general and the university being a welcoming environment relative to other aspects.

- Visible minority international students were more likely than non-visible minority students to rate academic reputation of Canadian universities in general (81% versus 54%) as important.

4.5 Sources of information

First-year students rated the importance of 19 sources of information they may have used when making a decision about whether or not to attend their university. Among them, only one source — the university's website — was rated as important/very important by more than half of first-year students.

- Students who self-identified as a member of a visible minority group rated several of the sources of information as being more important/very important relative to those who did not self-identify. These include QS World University Rankings (25% versus 11%), Academic Ranking of World Universities (24% versus 11%), and Times Higher Education World University Rankings (24% versus 10%).

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to rate parents as important or very important.

5.0   Orientation

Half of first-year students participated in orientation this past year. Among those who participated, most were satisfied with all aspects of orientation.

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to have participated in orientation.

Table 17: Orientation participation and satisfaction	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

6.0   Registration

Overall, 8 in 10 students indicated they were satisfied or very satisfied with each of two aspects related to registration.

7.0   Expectations and experience

First-year students rated 15 experiences as to whether they were much less than expected (1), less than expected (2), about what expected (3), more than expected (4), and much more than expected (5).

In some cases, experiences such as making friends or intellectual stimulation, should hopefully exceed students' expectations, while others such as cost of going to university should hopefully be less than expected. Others are hard to gauge as they might depend on the students' preferences (e.g., doing course work in groups).

However, the results seem to indicate that students were more likely to be surprised about the academic challenges of university (e.g., time to put into their coursework and how demanding their courses are) and cost-related aspects (e.g., cost of going to university and debt to complete program).

-   Students with lower grades were more likely to say their course grades were lower or much lower than expected. The proportion increased from 10% of those with an A- or higher up to 74% of those with a C+ or lower.

7.1   Overall expectations

When asked to summarize their overall experience to date, first-year students were about equally as likely to say their experience at their university exceeded versus fell short of their expectations.

Table 20: Meeting expectations (EXP18)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

8.0   Transition to university

Students rated their success in 18 areas of transitioning to university. Generally, the majority of students indicated they found some or very much success in each area, with the exception becoming involved in campus activities, which may not be surprising given the restrictions for on-campus activities due to the COVID-19 pandemic during the 2021-22 academic year.

- As students' grades decrease, they were less likely to report having some or very much success transitioning to the following: meeting academic demands, performing well in written assignments, performing well in courses that require math, understanding course material, and managing their time.

- The older a student was, the less success they reported making friends.

9.0   Educational experiences

9.1   Perceptions of professors

Students rated their levels of agreement with a series of statements about their professors. The majority of students reported positive experiences with professors, with at least two thirds agreeing with each statement, with the exception of take a personal interest in academic progress.

9.1.1   Most important attributes of professors

When asked to select the three most important attributes of professors, first-year students selected having instructors who communicate well in their teaching the most often, followed by being well organized in their teaching. They were least concerned with professors providing prompt feedback on academic work.

Table 23: Most important aspects of professors (PROF18-20)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

9.2   Ability to evaluate teaching

Nine in 10 first-year students said they were given the chance to evaluate the quality of teaching in their courses, although just 4 in 10 said they were able to evaluate the teaching in all of their courses.

-   Students at Group 3 universities were more likely than students at Group 1 or Group 2 universities to report they were not able to evaluate teaching in any of their courses.

-   Students 20 to 21 years old (31%) were least likely to report being able to evaluate the quality of teaching in all their courses amongst age groups.

9.3   Satisfaction with quality of teaching

The majority of first-year students agreed that they were generally satisfied with the quality of teaching they received.

* These questions included an option for students to say 'No basis for opinion' and those responses have been removed from the calculations.

10.0 Commitment to completion

10.1 Perceptions of effort

Almost all students agreed that they are willing to put a lot of effort into being successful at university (47% strongly agreed), which is reflected in the fact that almost as many agreed that they normally go to all of their classes (46% strongly agreed). Fewer students agreed that they can deal with stress (14% strongly agreed) or have good study habits (14% strongly agreed).

- As university grades decreased, agreement also decreased for dealing with stress and having good study habits.

Note: 'Don't know' responses are not shown in the table but are included in the calculations.

10.2 Perceptions of university education

Results show that at least 3 in 4 first-year students agreed with the statements about their courses and program of studies.

10.3   Perceptions of finances

Three quarters of first-year students agreed that they have the financial resources to complete their program (23% strongly agreed), while slightly less than two thirds agreed that a university degree is worth the cost (20% strongly agreed).

Note: 'Don't know' responses are not shown in the table but are included in the calculations.

10.4   Perceptions of persistence

At the time of the survey, almost 9 in 10 first-year students agreed that they plan to come back to their university next year, although just 51% strongly agreed. About the same proportion planned to complete their degree at their current university (47% strongly agreed). About 1 in 10 planned to transfer to another university or go to college/CEGEP next year.

11.0   Overall evaluation of student experiences

11.1   Satisfaction with concern shown for student as an individual

Almost two thirds of first-year students were satisfied with the concern shown by the university for them as an individual.

Table 31: Satisfaction with concern shown by the university for student as an individual (EVAL3)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

11.2   Satisfaction with decision to attend this university

Close to 9 in 10 first-year students were satisfied with their decision to attend their university.

Table 32: Satisfaction with decision to attend this university (EVAL9)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

11.3   Recommend university to others

Students were asked to rate the likelihood they would recommend their university on a scale from 0 (not at all likely) to 10 (extremely likely). Using the Net Promoter Score calculation, where detractors (rating of 0 to 6) are subtracted from promoters (rating of 9 or 10), participating universities have a score of +1. Although it was not statistically significant, Group 1 students gave a higher Net Promoter Score than Group 2 and Group 3 students.

Table 33: Recommend university to others (EVAL14)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

Note: The Net Promoter Score may not exactly equal the difference between 'promoter' and 'detractor' due to rounding.

12.0   Goal development

12.1   Chosen a major or discipline

At the time of the survey, three quarters of first-year students said they had selected their major or discipline.

Table 34: Chosen a major or discipline (GOAL1)	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

12.2   Post-graduation plans

At this early point in their university studies, first-year students are equally likely to want to apply to a professional program as graduate school, although the highest proportion were unsure.

Table 35: Post-graduation plans	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

12.3   Career planning

Overall, one third of first-year students have a specific career in mind, while another third have several possible careers. Despite many having a career (or two) in mind, just 1 in 5 said they know their career options very well.

Table 36: Career plans	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

12.4 Steps taken for employment post-graduation

Slightly less than 9 in 10 first-year students have taken at least one step to prepare for employment or a career after graduation. They have most often talked to people (e.g., parents, family, friends, etc.) about it.

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to have talked with parents/family, but the more likely they were to have worked in their chosen field of employment.

13.0   Satisfaction with facilities and services

13.1   General facilities and services

The most commonly used services among first-year students were bookstores (online or on-campus), while few report using facilities for student associations.

- Students who self-identified as a member of a visible minority were less likely to report using online campus bookstores (44% versus 60%), on-campus bookstores (40% versus 59%), and parking (18% versus 35%) than their counterparts.

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to have used bookstores (online or on-campus), university residences, or food services.

Table 38: Use of general facilities and services	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

The table below shows very little difference in the satisfaction of those who used each general facility or service, with the exception of parking (12% very satisfied) and food services (14% very satisfied).

13.2   Academic services

With the exception of academic advising (used by one third), fewer than 1 in 7 first-year students reported using academic services in the past year.

Table 40: Use of academic services	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

13.3   Special services

As the category of services implies, special services are those that tend to be created for specific groups of students. Only one service (financial aid) was used by more than 8% of first-year students in the past year.

- Students who self-identified as a member of a visible minority were more likely to report using services for international students (7% versus 1%) than those who did not self-identify.

Table 42: Use of special services	All students (n=15,157)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

14.0   Academic profile

Examining students' academic profiles shows that the majority are attending full-time, began their post-secondary studies this academic year at their current university, did not transfer from another institution, and reported an average grade of B- or higher.

- Group 1 students were most likely to be studying part-time. Group 3 students were most likely to have started their post-secondary education in 2019 or earlier.

- The older a student was, the more likely they were to have started their post-secondary studies earlier or transferred from another institution.

15.0   Current employment

About 4 in 10 first-year students were employed at the time of the survey, most often off campus. Among those who were employed, results show that the typical student worked 17 hours per week. About three and a half times more students reported that their employment had a negative rather than positive impact on their academic performance.

- On average, Group 1 students worked five hours a week more than Group 2 and Group 3 students.

- The older a student was, the more likely they were be employed and work more than 30 hours per week.

16.0   Finances

16.1   Credit cards

Close to 6 in 10 first-year students have at least one credit card. Among these students, the vast majority pay off their balance each month and, as such, their current credit card balance is zero. Among those with an unpaid balance, the average credit card debt is over $3,000.

- Group 1 students carried higher credit card debt than Group 2 or Group 3 students.

- The older a student was, the more likely they were to have a credit card, and the more likely they were to carry a balance on their credit card.

16.2 Financial awards and assistance

Overall, 6 in 10 first-year students said they received a financial award from their university. Among those who received an award, one-third said they would not have been able to attend university without this financial assistance.

- Group 2 students were most likely to have reported receiving a financial award from their university.

- As students' university grades decreased, students were less likely to report receiving a financial award from their university, declining from 72% of those with a grade of A- or higher to 46% of those with a C+ or lower.

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to report that they received a financial award.

17.0   Course delivery and assessment module

Starting in March 2020, the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic brought many challenges for post-secondary institutions and students. Post-secondary institutions across Canada closed physically, and most in person (face-to-face) courses transitioned to online (remote delivery), as did many student services. Some courses were postponed or cancelled entirely. Courses with experiential learning components were also affected.

Continuing on with its learning from the 2021 Graduating Student Survey, CUSC-CCREU added a module of questions about the impacts of the pandemic on course delivery and assessment. This module was optional for universities. The results reported are only from first-year students at universities that opted to participate in the course delivery and assessment module.

17.1   Academic courses instruction and delivery

In the 2021-22 academic year, first-year students indicated that online was the most common method of instruction for their courses.

- Group 1 students were least likely to have experience with online synchronous instruction.

- Students aged 22 or older were less likely than other age groups to have taken online synchronous, hybrid, and in-person instruction in 2021-22, but more likely to have taken other types.

Table 48: Methods of instruction in 2021-22 (CDAA)	All students (n=13,065)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)
		1 (n=5,346)	2 (n=5,234)	3 (n=2,485)
Online asynchronous (e.g. learning modules, recorded lectures)	71%	67%	74%	70%	61%
Online synchronous (e.g. real-time audio or video, such as Zoom, Teams, etc.)	70%	56%	77%	72%	66%
Hybrid (combination of in-person and online)	61%	56%	59%	78%	79%
In-person	56%	55%	53%	69%	90%
Other	1%	2%	<1%	<1%	-

Satisfaction by instruction method varied considerably, with first-year students most satisfied with in-person instruction (32% very satisfied).

Table 49: Satisfaction with instruction method (% satisfied or very satisfied)	All students	Group			University of Victoria
In-person (CDAA1)	91%	94%	91%	88%	91%

Other (CDAA5A)	49%	51%	38%	69%	-
Note: Percentages are based on those with experience with the method of instruction.

17.2 Internal experiential learning

Overall, about 4 in 10 first-year students were currently enrolled in an internal experiential learning component (e.g. co-op, lab, practicum, studio, applied project), most commonly taking it in person.

- The older a student was, the less likely they were to be currently enrolled in internal experiential learning.

Table 50: Internal experiential learning	All students (n=13,065)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)
		1 (n=5,346)	2 (n=5,234)	3 (n=2,485)
Currently enrolled in internal experiential learning (e.g. co-op, lab, practicum, studio, applied project) (CDAB)	44%	39%	47%	40%	57%

Online asynchronous (e.g. learning modules, recorded lectures)	9%	7%	11%	8%	5%
Other	1%	1%	1%	<1%	1%

Similar to academic instruction, first-year students were most satisfied with in-person internal experiential learning (34% very satisfied).

Table 51: Satisfaction with internal experiential learning instruction method (% satisfied or very satisfied)	All students	Group			University of Victoria
In-person (CDAB2)	93%	95%	92%	92%	89%

Online synchronous (e.g. real-time audio or video, such as Zoom, Teams, etc.) (CDAB4)	75%	77%	76%	69%	67%
Online asynchronous (e.g. learning modules, recorded lectures) (CDAB5)	69%	73%	66%	75%	71%
Note: Percentages are based on those with experience with experiential learning instruction method.

17.3   Course assessment

Different methods of course assessments were used in the 2021-22 year, with a greater proportion of students having online rather than in-person assessments.

- Group 3 students were most likely to have had in-person assessments, while Group 2 students were most likely to have had online synchronous assessments.

- Students 22 and older were less likely to have assessments that were online synchronous, in-person, or hybrid, but more likely to have assessments classified as other.

Table 52: Assessment experiences in 2021-22 (CDAC)	All students (n=13,065)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)
		1 (n=5,346)	2 (n=5,234)	3 (n=2,485)
Online asynchronous (e.g. learning modules, recorded lectures)	59%	54%	62%	60%	51%
Online synchronous (e.g. real-time audio or video, such as Zoom, Teams, etc.)	58%	44%	67%	57%	63%

Hybrid (combination of in-person and online)	30%	33%	25%	42%	38%
Other	2%	3%	1%	1%	1%

Unlike learning experiences, satisfaction by assessment method is very similar by assessment type.

Table 53: Satisfaction with assessment methods (% satisfied or very satisfied)	All students	Group			University of Victoria
In-person (CDAC1)	88%	91%	87%	84%	87%

Other (CDAC5A)	76%	79%	69%	75%	67%
Note: Percentages are based on those with experience with assessment method.

17.4   Satisfaction with university's efforts to limit spread of COVID-19
Almost 9 in 10 first-year students were satisfied with their university's safety measures to limit the spread of the COVID-19 virus.

Table 54: Satisfaction with efforts university has taken to limit spread of COVID-19 (COVID8)	All students (n=13,065)	Group			University of Victoria (n=319)

Appendix A – 2022 CUSC-CCREU Survey (© 2022)

This survey is being completed by first-year students at approximately 30 Canadian universities. We want to learn more about our new students to help them make a successful transition to university.

If you cannot finish the survey in one sitting, you can close it and return to it using the link in the email we sent you. You will be returned to the page you were on when you closed. All of your responses are confidential.

Appendix B – Data Licensing & Membership Agreement

Data Licensing & Membership Agreement

WHEREAS:

PREAMBLE

A. The mission of the Canadian University Survey Consortium - Consortium canadien de recherche sur les étudiants universitaires (the Corporation, or CUSC-CCREU) is to assess the Canadian university experience by surveying representative student populations enrolled in participating universities.

The Consortium is a membership not-for-profit corporation. It supports the annual collection, management, analysis and dissemination of survey data. Results provide measures of student characteristics, activities, and perceptions of the quality of their educational experience at their universities as well as a broad base of comparative information for the benefit of participating institutions.

B. The purpose of the Consortium is to:
- Offer students an opportunity to assess their university experience.
- Provide access to a broad base of comparative and collective data on the Canadian university experience, including measures of student characteristics, experiences, participation, expectations and satisfaction.
- Manage and provide reliable, consistent data to track over time the quality of the post-secondary experience as perceived by students, in order to assess institutional strengths and educational outcomes, and to inform decisions about needed improvements.
- Contribute to accountability reports to institutional governing bodies, governments and the public.

C. The exchange of confidential data among member institutions requires goodwill and trust among the members. This Agreement shall be guided by the principle that members of CUSC-CCREU will act in the best interests of all members of the Corporation. The primary consideration in issues of disclosure of research results shall be the avoidance of public comparisons that could damage the reputation of a member institution;

D. Statistical measures and analysis of survey data may be of interest to wider audiences than the members of the Corporation for policy formulation, advocacy or publication of research. Members are encouraged to make best use of the survey data, including publication of research results, observing confidentiality requirements;

E. The Corporation and the Member wish to define their respective obligations in relation to the use of the Data that is shared between the Corporation and the Members;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the mutual promises herein made, and in consideration of the representations, warranties, undertakings and covenants herein contained, of the Corporation and the Member, the parties hereby agree as follows:

DEFINITIONS
1. In this Agreement, unless the context otherwise specifies or requires:
   a) "Data" means an electronic record of the answers to the questions on the survey instrument given by each respondent at the universities which participated in the survey.
   b) "Aggregate Data" means all of the data or data for groups of universities. Generally, aggregate data is expressed as statistics and research findings across data drawn from all universities or groups of universities.
   c) "Member Institution" and "Member" mean a university which is a member of CUSC-CCREU.
   d) "Publish" means dissemination of research findings beyond the senior administration of a member institution.
   e) "Senior Administration" means the officers of a member institution with overall responsibility for academic programs and student services.

OWNERSHIP OF SURVEY DATA
2. The data collected in surveys of students attending a member institution is the property of that institution.

EXCHANGE OF SURVEY DATA AMONG MEMBERS
3. Each member will make its survey data available to the other members for the general purposes as outlined in the Preamble herein. Each member is bound by restrictions on the use and disclosure of data belonging to other members.

COMPARISONS LIMITED TO AGGREGATE DATA
4. The only interuniversity comparisons permitted for publication or circulation beyond a member's senior administrators are those that are based on the aggregate data for all members or the aggregate data for the groups of members identified by CUSC-CCREU.

5. A member may prepare and circulate reports based on aggregated data from selected groups of member institutions for internal use only to senior administrators of its institution.

LIMITATIONS ON THE USE OF DATA
6. A member may not publish statistical measures or analysis of its own data for purposes of institutional promotion in a manner that would harm the reputation of another member institution.

7. Members may not publish statistical measures or analysis of data collected at another member institution with the name of the institution disclosed. Members may publish statistical measures and analysis of their own data.

8. A member may not publish statistical measures or analysis of data collected at another member institution that would allow an informed reader to identify the institution by reference to location, uncommon programs or other information contained in the published material.

REQUIREMENTS FOR CONFIDENTIALITY
9. A member may make available to its senior administrators statistical measures and analysis of data from another member, with the identity of the member disclosed, for the purposes outlined in the Preamble above. The member disclosing the identity of another member in these circumstances must ensure that those to whom the information is made available are aware of its confidential nature and restricted audience.

10. A member institution may be requested to disclose data or statistical measures under freedom of information legislation or other requirements for accountability. In these circumstances members may disclose their own data in order to fulfill the request. Members shall not disclose data that belongs to other member institutions unless the request explicitly demands it and legal counsel advises that the request must be fulfilled. If it must be fulfilled the member institution shall notify immediately the other member institution(s). If it does not have to be fulfilled the requester should be referred to the other member institution(s) which should be notified immediately.

EXCLUSIVE USE OF INSTRUMENTS AND METHODOLOGY

11. The survey instruments and methodology are for the exclusive use of the members and are not to be shared with organizations outside the Corporation.

INDEMNITY

12. The Member indemnifies and holds the Corporation, its directors, officers, employees or agents harmless in respect of any claim which may be brought against the Corporation, or which may be suffered or incurred directly or indirectly as a result of a breach of the Member's obligations under this Agreement or as a result of the negligent or willful act of the Member, its directors, officers, employees or agents.

SEVERABILITY

13. Should any portion of this Agreement be declared invalid or unenforceable, then such portion shall be deemed to be severable from this Agreement and shall not affect the remainder hereof.
