

On November 10, 2022, The Canadian Civil Liberties Association (CCLA) will be making a stop on its nationwide rights education roadshow at the University of Victoria law school.

Join CCLA at the University of Victoria to hear from legal experts and rights advocates and explore how you can become a lawyer and advocate!

We want to encourage and support high school students who are interested in learning about social justice, their civil rights, and helping us make the legal profession more diverse.
