

This guide shows the most common scenarios for APA citing. For more examples, consult:

- Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th ed. (Call number BF76.7 P83 2020)
- APA Style Blog (<https://apastyle.apa.org/blog/>)

TIP: Always consult with your instructor to determine which citation style and edition of the style you should follow.

Many citations used as examples in this guide are fictitious and created for illustration purposes.

General Rules: In-text Citations

APA Style Guide 7th (p. 261) requires you to cite your sources in the text of your paper using author- date. Include author, year (and page(s) if a direct quote). Provide the full citation in your reference list. Cite the source of all material you quote, paraphrase, or summarize.

ONE AUTHOR → Cite the last name of the author and the publication year. → Example: According to one study of music students (Jones, 2000) the song was heard ...

Note: If you include the author's name in the sentence, don't cite it in parentheses. → Example: Wong (2003) discovered students ...

TWO AUTHORS → Cite both names of the authors for every reference in the text. → Example: A previous study (Wong & Jones, 1997) uncovered several instances of ...

THREE OR MORE AUTHORS → Include the last name of only the first author plus "et al." followed by the publication year, in every citation, including the first citation. → Example: (Smith et al., 2006)

GROUP AUTHOR → Provide the full name of the group on first mention, and the publication year.

→ Example: (National Institute of Mental Health [NIMH], 2020)

Group name can be abbreviated for subsequent citations. → Example: (NIMH, 2020)

SUBSEQUENT CITATIONS → Omit the year for second and subsequent nonparenthetical citations within the same paragraph. Include the year for all parenthetical citations (APA Style Guide, 7th ed., p. 265).

→ Example: Wong also demonstrates...

DIRECT QUOTE → If the citation is for a direct quote, include the page number(s). Abbreviate page as p. and pages as pp. → Examples: He exclaimed, "No new taxes" (Turnbull, 2000, p. 84) or (Turnbull, 2000, pp. 84- 87).

MULTIPLE SOURCES → Cited within the same parentheses: Place the citations in alphabetical order by author last name. Separate citations with a semicolon.

→ Example: (Anderson, 2005; Everson & Brown, 2002; Suzuki, 2004)

MULTIPLE SOURCES, SAME AUTHOR → Cite the author(s) once. List the dates chronologically, earliest first, and separate with commas. → Example: (Jones & Brown, 2003, 2004)

NO AUTHOR → Include the title and year of publication in the in-text citation.

→ Example: Web Usability Studies are commonly conducted in libraries ("Benefits of Usability Studies," 2002).

SECONDARY SOURCES → For a source cited in another source, refer to the source you got the information from in your in-text citation. In the reference list, only list the source you used. → Example: Jones' diary (as cited in Smith, 2006)
Note: In this example, Smith (2006) would appear in the reference list, but Jones would not.

WEBSITES → When an entire website is cited, rather than a particular document on that website, the address of the site is sufficient in the text (APA Style Guide, 7th ed., p. 268). → Example: The UVic Library posts information on Twitter (<https://www.twitter.com/UVicLib>).

WEB PAGES → For material on a web page without page numbers: cite the section heading and the paragraph number (count down from the heading). → Example: (Smith, 2006, Introduction section, para. 2)

WEB PAGES WITH NO AUTHOR → To cite a web page with no author, start your citation with the title of the web page. → Example: ("Coastal Cleanup Efforts," 2012)

TRADITIONAL KNOWLEDGE / ORAL TRADITIONS OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES → If the information is recorded and recoverable by readers (e.g. video, audio, transcript, book, article), cite it in the text and include a reference list entry in the format of the type of source. For information not recoverable by readers, we'd recommend using the template established by Lorisia MacLeod of NorQuest College, which includes an in-text citation with a last name and date of the transmission of knowledge, and an adapted reference entry (see Reference List Examples below).

→ Example: We spoke with Rose Penny (2020) about the traditions around seasonal moons....

ORGANIZATION IS AUTHOR → Works with a group as the author e.g. (e.g. corporations, associations, government agencies / departments / ministries) are usually spelled out each time they appear in a citation unless the name is long and cumbersome and the abbreviation is familiar or readily understandable. If the name is short or the abbreviation not readily understandable, write out the name each time it occurs. → Examples: Without abbreviation - Public Health Agency of Canada (2005)
With abbreviation - Canada, Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT, 2003)

LEGAL SOURCES → Court cases, statutes, and legislation are treated as works with no author (see above). In-text citations should include the first few words of the reference followed by the year of publication.

Bills and statutes should be cited with the official or popular title of the legislation, and the year it was passed.

→ Examples: 1. Bill C-26 (2005) had numerous effects on...

2. Freedom of association is guaranteed under section 2(d) (Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, 1982).

Case law titles are italicized for in-text citations.

→ Example: (R. v. Latimer, 2001)

PERSONAL COMMUNICATIONS → Lectures, e-mail messages, text messages, online chats or direct messages, or personal interviews, telephone conversations, live speeches, memos, letters, etc. that you conducted with another person should be referred to in your in-text citations but NOT in your reference list. → Personal communications can include information taken from course management tools such as Brightspace.

→ Provide the surname and initials of the person with whom you were communicating, and an exact date if possible. → Example: J. Reiss indicated that “anthropologists are still debating the Neanderthals’ disappearance” (personal communication, May 3, 2000).

General Rules: Reference List

The reference list appears at the end of your paper and helps readers locate your sources. It includes all works cited in your paper. (See Ch. 9, pp. 281-307)

FORMAT

→ Begin the reference list on a new page and give it the heading References. Use bold font and centre the heading.
→ Double-space the entire reference list. → For each reference, indent all lines other than the first line, one-half inch from the left margin.

LIST ORDER

→ Alphabetize the list by authors’ last names. If a reference has no author, use the first word of the title.
→ If several references have the same author(s), list them in the order they were published, earliest first.

AUTHORS AND EDITORS

→ Place last name first and use initials for first and middle names.
→ Two authors: separate names with commas; place & before the final name. → Three to twenty authors: invert all authors’ names; give last names and initials up to and including 20 authors.
→ Twenty-one or more authors: name the first nineteen authors, then insert three ellipsis points (. . .) followed by the final author’s name.

→ Editor: add (Ed.) after the name. Multiple editors: add (Eds.) after the last-listed editor.

→ Work by a group author: alphabetize in the reference list by the first significant word in the name.

→ No known author or editor: begin the reference with the title, followed by the date. If, and only if, the work is signed “Anonymous,” use “Anonymous” as the author.

GROUP AUTHORS (INCLUDING GOVERNMENT)

→ Alphabetize group authors (government agencies, departments, ministries) by the first significant word of the name. → Spell out the full name of a group author (a period follows the group author). Example: Public Health Agency of Canada.

DATE OF PUBLICATION

→ If the date of publication is unknown, use n.d. in place of the date.
→ If a work has been accepted for publication but is not yet published, use the term “in press” instead of a year.

RETRIEVAL DATES

→ Provide a retrieval date for online sources when citing work that is likely meant to change, or changes over time (e.g. Twitter Profile, wikis, Facebook page, UpToDate article, Google Maps, etc.)
→ Give the date you retrieved the information if it is unclear when it was last updated using this form: Retrieved April 15, 2009.

TITLES

→ Articles, books, chapters, web pages: capitalize only the first word of the title, the first word of the subtitle, and any proper names.
→ Journals, other published periodicals (newspapers, magazines, etc.), and websites: capitalize each significant word. → Italicize the titles of books and periodicals, including the volume number of periodicals.

APA Style Guide

University of Victoria

Libraries

EDITION

→ Include the edition after the title for editions other than the first

Example: Dictionary of the Spanish Language (22nd ed.).

PLACE OF PUBLICATION

→ Publisher locations are no longer included in APA Style references for books and book chapters (APA 7th ed., pp. 295-296.)

PUBLISHER'S NAME

→ Omit terms such as Publishers, Co., and Inc., but retain Books and Press.

ELECTRONIC SOURCES

→ Online source with a DOI (Digital Object Identifier, typically found on the first page of the article): cite the DOI starting with <https://doi.org/> and do not include the database or website name. If an online source has both a DOI and URL, include only the DOI → Online source without a DOI: for open access content, give the exact URL for the cited material; for content accessible by subscription, give the database name or journal home page address. → It is no longer necessary to include the words

"Retrieved from"

→ Do not put a period after the web page address.

GOVERNMENT REPORTS & TECHNICAL & RESEARCH REPORTS

→ APA style refers to "Technical and Research Reports" and includes government reports. These are treated as books.

→ Electronic versions: Do not include publication information if the address is of the website of the publishing government agency / department ministry.

→ Capitalize only the first word of the title and of the subtitle, if any, and any proper nouns; italicize the title. Include document numbers in parentheses.

→ Government reports from Canada are published in Ottawa, ON unless otherwise indicated.

→ Government Reports from British Columbia are published in Victoria, BC unless otherwise indicated.

→ Government reports retrieved online do not need to indicate the publisher, unless the author is also the publisher.

→ Statute citations should be constructed as follows: Name of Act, Volume Source § section number (year).

→ Note: Canadian statutes should include jurisdiction immediately after the Volume.

Session or supplement, chapter, and pinpoint locations should be substituted for the section symbol (§) and section number. → Bill citations should be constructed as follows: Bill/Resolution Number, Legislative Session, Volume Source page (year) (enacted). → Note: Canadian bills have official titles which should be included at the start of the citation, followed by a comma. The pinpoint location is substituted for volume, source and page number.

→ Case Law citations should be constructed:

Name

v. Name, Volume Source Page (Court Date). →

Note: In Canadian cases, the Court and Date may be located in the neutral citation. The reporter should be considered the Source. If the year of the reporter needs to be included, place it in square brackets before the volume.
