Introduction

The records of the Canadian Scottish Regimental Museum are a collection of items donated to the museum. The collection includes ephemera, newspaper clippings, photographs, maps, and publications, donated from various sources. The Regimental Museum gave these items to the University of Victoria Special Collections between 1976 and 1991. This collection complements the fonds of the 16th Battalion (The Canadian Scottish), the Canadian Scottish Regiment, and the Canadian Army. The finding aids for all these fonds can be found in the University of Victoria Special Collections.
