JOB POSTING

JOB TITLE: UVSS18 - Consultation Assistant

DEPARTMENT NAME: University of Victoria Students' Society, Anti-Violence Project

CONTACT NAME: Elaine Balogun

JOB DESCRIPTION:

The Anti-Violence Project (AVP) is the on-campus sexual assault centre at the University of Victoria committed to addressing and ending gender-based and sexualized violence on campus and beyond. The AVP Consultation Assistant will support the AVP team with conducting consultation and community projects on campus and in the community. This position will also support the AVP team with some administrative and internal office duties, such as office organization, research, and resource gathering/building.

QUALIFICATIONS:

The AVP Consultation Assistant will have a strong anti-oppressive intersectional analysis of issues related to gender-based violence and sexualized violence. They must be able to work independently and as part of a team of paid and volunteer staff. The ideal candidate will be organized, self-motivated, creative and have excellent time/project management skills. We will make every attempt to work with you in making this position accessible if you are a successful applicant. Please reach out if you have any questions or concerns about accessibility needs in fulfilling this role.

In support of employment equity and in order to increase our relevancy and diversity of skills, knowledge and experience, AVP strongly encourages people of colour, persons with disabilities, Indigenous, Black, queer, and transgender students to apply and will give hiring preference to qualified applicants who self-identify as being from marginalized communities and groups who face systemic barriers to employment. Applicants who wish to do so may self-identify in their cover letter.
