Linda Sheehan Presents: Reclaiming Prosperity Through Nature's Rights

Free Public Seminar
April 10th, 2013 | 10:30-noon |
Sedgewick Building - Room C168

DESCRIPTION: Ms. Sheehan will look at how current understandings of prosperity are driving ecological degradation, and describe alternative definitions that support healthy relationships with the natural world. She will then describe how British Columbians can begin to support such relationships in their governance systems, specifically through recognition of the rights of nature in municipal law.

Linda Sheehan is Executive Director of Earth Law Center in California, and Visiting Research Fellow with the Centre for Global Studies at the University of Victoria
