

Bench Fees for Use of the Department of Anthropology's Zooarchaeological Collection

Effective: April 1, 2019

Commercial Use (contract firms and researchers conducting paid research):

Daily Fee: $75 per day/desk

Monthly Fee: $1000/month/desk

Annual Fee: $5000 per year/desk

These fees can be combined. Different members of one contracting firm can share the monthly cost if, for example, one member wants to use a shared desk space for 5 days and another wants to use it for 15 days in one calendar month. Please enquire for details.

Independent Scholars: $50/day for scholars conducting independent research (i.e., not for profit); monthly and annual fees are available. Users can apply for the fee to be waived.

UVic Students: Undergraduate, graduate and post-doctoral students registered full-time at the University of Victoria may access these collections for free. Students must provide a letter from their supervisor or course instructor indicating sufficient training in the use of osteological or zooarchaeological materials.”

Non-UVic Students and underemployed scholars: $25/day; monthly and annual fees are available. Users can apply for the fee to be waived. Students must provide a letter from their supervisor or course instructor indicating sufficient training in the use of osteological or zooarchaeological materials.”

Notes:

Fee includes access to the zooarchaeological collection, 1 desk during working hours, and limited storage while not working on collection.

Desk(s) must be booked in advance.

Bookings are to be made through Dr. Stephanie Calce, collections manager.

Payments are to be made to Ms. Cathy Rzeplinski in Department of Anthropology's main office.

Questions can be addressed to Dr. Stephanie Calce, Collections Manager.

Fee structure comes into effect on April 1, 2019, and may be revised at a future date.

Fees go directly to lab upkeep, collections and information management and development, and graduate student support.