Course Description
The course covers modern theories of aggregate economic behaviour, the determination of national income and employment, consumption, investment, inflation, and growth. The course includes some applications of economic policy problems related to unemployment, aggregate fluctuations, taxation and balance of payments disequilibria.

Note: Credit will be granted for only one of ECON 204, 301, 303, 304B.
Prerequisites: ECON 103, 103C or 180; ECON 104; MATH 100, 102 or 109.

Textbook
The required textbook for the course is Macroeconomics by Abel, Bernanke, Croushore, and Kneebone (Toronto: Pearson, 2021). Ideally, students should obtain the 9th Canadian edition, but the 8th edition will work as well. The digital version is available at the campus bookstore:

Course Content

Overview:
The goal of the course is to teach students how to take an “economic approach” to analyze complex policy issues and current events. This will involve using some maths to better understand how macroeconomic theories work, how they are applied, and their limitations. At times, this approach will require working with appropriate data sources, preparing graphs or tables, performing some calculations and interpreting the results. Ultimately, one of the skills we aim to teach is the ability to understand how economic policy and shocks affect the economy, as reflected in macroeconomic variables such as GDP, interest rates, prices and employment. What defines macroeconomics is mainly a broader perspective on economic phenomena, and the types of questions that are posed. We will look at the economy as a whole, rather than its specific details (though, also the ‘micro’ aspects are important). We will address the following questions: Why are some Countries rich while others are poor? What determines interest rates? How does the Bank of Canada influence the economy? How should Governments intervene when the unemployment rate increases?

204 Final Exam TBA – it will take place sometime between December 7th-20th 2023

Important Dates:
The last day for adding courses is September 22nd.
The last day for withdrawing from courses without penalty of failure is October 31st.
Grading Scheme
Quizzes (5): five online quizzes, each worth 4%.
Assignment (1): one long assignment submitted, and graded, worth 10%.
Midterms (2): two midterm exams, in person, each worth 15%.
Final Exam: in person, worth 40%.

Quizzes: There will be 5 online quizzes. These quizzes serve as study guides, and to prepare for both the multiple choice and the “long questions” in the exams. They will count 4% each towards the final grade (if attempted, otherwise the student will receive a zero).

Assignment: It is designed for the students to learn the material in depth, and prepare for the “long questions” in the exams. It will be posted on Brightspace and must be submitted before the relevant deadline in the dedicated dropbox located in the Economics department (TBC). You may discuss with other students how to answer the questions. However, you must submit your own work. There will be one long assignment in the term. It will count 10% towards the final grade (if attempted, otherwise the student will receive a grade of zero). Note: if caught copying other students’ answers, the assignment will receive a grade of zero.

Quizzes due dates (tentative): September 19th, October 3rd, October 17th, November 17th and December 1st. Assignment due date: (tentative): November 10th. There may be some changes if necessary.

Note: it is the student’s responsibility to submit quizzes and assignments in a timely fashion. Late submissions will not be accepted.

Exercises: During the term, a number of exercises (with solutions) will be circulated for the students to work on. They are helpful in preparing for the final exam. Students are encouraged to attempt them, and clarify their doubts during office hours.

Midterms: The two in-person midterm exams are scheduled on October 24th and on November 21st (TBC). More specific details will be given in due time. They are not cumulative, namely the second midterm will only cover the material presented after the first midterm. If you miss a midterm test due to illness or family affliction, please contact me by email. Make-up exams for midterms will not be given. In the event that you miss one midterm due to illness or family affliction, the weight of the missed exam will be shifted to the other exams (5% to the other midterm and 10% to the final). The weights of two midterms missed for valid reasons will be shifted to other assessments (10% to the quizzes/assignment and 20% to the final). Should you miss an exam without approval of the instructor, you will receive a grade of zero for that exam. Note: whenever needed, it is the student’s responsibility to provide medical and other documentation in a timely manner.

Final exam: It is scheduled by the University. It is cumulative, namely it covers the material presented in the whole course. As per university policy, deferred final exams will be given only on the basis of documented family illness or family afflictions.

Mandatory Course Components: Failure to taking the final exam will result in a grade of N regardless of the cumulative percentage on the course. N is a failing grade and factors into GPA as a value of 0.
Grade concerns should be brought to the instructor as soon as possible. The grades of each assessment component are final after one week of being distributed.

This course uses the standard Department of Economics grading scale:

Students should review the University’s more detailed summary of grading.

Minimum Grade Requirement: Students majoring in Economics must get a C in ECON 204.

Brightspace and Zoom
- Brightspace and Zoom are used extensively for the course. All students are expected to be fully functional with these systems.
- All course materials will be posted on Brightspace.
- All announcements will be posted on Brightspace. Students are advised to check it frequently.
- For support with technical issues, please get in touch with the Computer Help Desk: helpdesk@uvic.ca

E-mail: mcozzi [@] uvic.ca

- You should contact me by email primarily on matters that relate to your personal participation, e.g. you have a medical condition that prevents you from taking an exam. General administrative matters, such as the arrangement and the format for the assignments or exams, will not be addressed via e-mail.
- E-mail is a terribly inefficient way of communicating regarding course material. Any clarifying questions about the syllabus and/or course content have to be asked in class or during office hours. E-mails to me should be limited to missed assessments and personal concerns.
- If you contact me at my UVic e-mail address, please include your legal name (the name in the university records), student number and course title in the subject of your e-mail. Without such information, it is sometimes hard for the instructor to understand the nature of your queries. Please avoid inappropriate nicknames, e-mail id’s and signatures. Text message lingo should not be used.

Copyright
All course content and materials are made available by instructors for educational purposes and for the exclusive use of students registered in their class. The material is protected under copyright law, even if not marked with a ©. Any further use or distribution of materials to others requires the written permission of the instructor, except under fair dealing or another exception in the Copyright Act. Violations may result in disciplinary action under the Resolution of Non-Academic Misconduct Allegations policy (AC1300).
Course Experience Survey (CES)
I value your feedback on this course. Towards the end of term you will have the opportunity to complete a confidential course experience survey (CES) regarding your learning experience. The survey is vital to providing feedback to me regarding the course and my teaching, as well as to help the department improve the overall program for students in the future. When it is time for you to complete the survey, you will receive an email inviting you to do so. If you do not receive an email invitation, you can go directly to http://ces.uvic.ca. You will need to use your UVic NetLink ID to access the survey, which can be done on your laptop, tablet or mobile device. I will remind you nearer the time, but please be thinking about this important activity, especially the following three questions, during the course.
1. What strengths did your instructor demonstrate that helped you learn in this course?
2. Please provide specific suggestions as to how the instructor could have helped you learn more effectively.
3. Please provide specific suggestions as to how this course could be improved.
