Course Content
Overview:
The goal of the course is to teach students how to take an “economic approach” to analyze complex policy issues and current events. This will involve some maths and an understanding of how economic models work, how they are applied, and their limitations. At times this approach will require some work with different data sources, preparing graphs or tables, performing some calculations and interpreting the results. Ultimately, one of the skills we are trying to teach is the ability to understand how economic policy and shocks affect the economy as reflected in macroeconomic variables such as output, interest rates, prices and employment. What defines macroeconomics is mainly a broader perspective on economic phenomena, and the types of questions that are posed. We will look at the economy as a whole, rather than its specific, or ‘micro’, details (though, these are also important). We will address the following questions: Why are some Countries rich while others are poor? What determines interest rates? How does the Bank of Canada influence the economy? How should Governments intervene when the unemployment rate increases?

Some issues we consider in this course include:
- The decisions individuals face such as whether to save or consume, work or enjoy leisure.
- The decisions employers face either to hire more employees or fire some of them.
- The decisions government face such as how to best respond to economic shocks.

Midterms are scheduled on October. 2nd and November 9th. Midterms are not cumulative. If you miss one midterm with valid reason (see department policy), the weight will be carried equally by the final exam. Should you miss an exam without prior approval of the instructor or appropriate medical proof, you will receive a grade of zero for that exam. If you miss both midterms, you will write the make-up exam only for midterm 2.

Note: The make-up exam must be written by November. 28th. It is your responsibility to provide me medical proof in a timely manner and to initiate the time schedule for a make-up exam. You are required to write at least one midterm to complete the course.

Assignments are designed to allow students to learn the materials in depth and prepare for the exams. They will be posted on CourseSpaces and should be submitted to the dedicated assignment drop-box in the Economics Department before their deadline. You will work on the assignments with a maximum of 3 in your class and each group will hand in only one copy. I will send you further instruction on the assignments. There will be 3 assignments in the term.

Note: If caught copying other students’ answers, the assignment will receive a grade of 0, and will be counted directly in the overall grade for the course. In addition, the standard procedures of Academic Integrity will also be taken. It is the student’s responsibility to submit assignments in a timely fashion.

Final exam is scheduled by the University. It is cumulative.

Participation will be determined by the use of in class questions (pop-up quizzes) that will be assigned throughout the semester. The instructor will collect the questions in class and assign points if you tried to complete the question. Your answer does not have to be right.

This course uses the standard Department of Economics numerical score/letter grade equivalency, which can be found at the following URL:

Coursespaces

- Coursespaces is used extensively for the course. All students are expected to be fully functional with this system.
- The lecture notes will be posted on Coursespaces. Please note that the posted lecture notes are only outlines of the actual lectures.
- All announcements will be posted on Coursespaces. Students are advised to check it frequently.

Course Experience Survey (CES)

I value your feedback on this course. Towards the end of term you will have the opportunity to complete a confidential course experience survey (CES) regarding your learning experience. The survey is vital to providing feedback to me regarding the course and my teaching, as well as to help the department improve the overall program for students in the future. When it is time for you to complete the survey, you will receive an email inviting you to do so. If you do not receive an email invitation, you can go directly to http://ces.uvic.ca. You will need to use your UVic NetLink ID to access the survey, which can be done on your laptop, tablet or mobile device. I will remind you nearer the time, but please be thinking about this important activity, especially the following three questions, during the course.

1. What strengths did your instructor demonstrate that helped you learn in this course?
2. Please provide specific suggestions as to how the instructor could have helped you learn more effectively.
3. Please provide specific suggestions as to how this course could be improved.
Policies

This course operates within the Undergraduate Course Policies of the Department of Economics that deal with the following issues:

- Academic integrity (plagiarism and cheating)
- Attendance
- Grading
- Academic concessions
- Travel plans
- Students with a disability
- Policy on inclusivity and diversity

The complete document can be obtained from the departmental website:
http://www.uvic.ca/socialsciences/economics/undergraduate/home/course%20policies/index.php

The following is some elaboration of these policies.

Waitlist Policies

- Enrollment limits are determined by classroom capacity, which is set by fire regulations. Instructors therefore have no discretion to raise the cap or admit waitlisted students. While waiting for enrolled students to drop, waitlisted students must attend all classes and submit assignments according to the normal deadline.
- Enrolled students who do not show up in the first three lectures may lose their seats. Enrolled students who decide not to take the course are responsible for initiating their dropping out of the course, and are urged to do so as promptly as possible out of courtesy toward waitlisted students.

Classroom Etiquette

Behave politely and professionally. Do not create negative externalities. Do not disturb or distract your fellow students or the instructor.

Academic Integrity

Please browse http://library.uvic.ca/instruction/cite/plagiarism.html#whatis for the definition of plagiarism.

Language

English is the instruction language at the University. Your enrollment implies that you are able to function with it. All communications between you and the classmates (in class), the instructor and the teaching assistant should be in English. You should make sure that all written work is complete and understandable. Dictionaries are not allowed in examinations.

Examination

- Caps and hats that interfere with eye contact should not be worn in exams.
- Under normal conditions, you will only be allowed to use the washroom after you submit your test paper. Therefore, you are recommended to make proper arrangement for yourself prior to the exam and not to bring beverages. With certain medical condition, you should contact the instructor prior to an exam and arrangements can be made through the Resource Center for Students with a Disability.

- Students are advised not to make travel plans until after the examination timetable is finalized. Students who wish to book their trips early should book flights that depart after the end of the examination period. There will be no special accommodation if travel plans conflict with the examination.

E-mail

- You may contact me at my UVic email address. Please include both your legal name (the name in the university records) and course title in the subject of your email. Without such information, it is sometimes hard for the instructor to understand the nature of your queries. Please avoid inappropriate nicknames, email ids and signatures. Text message lingo should not be used.
- You should contact me by email primarily on matters that relate to your personal participation, e.g. you have a medical condition that prevents you from taking an exam. It is best to raise questions related to course materials in class or in person during office hours. You may ask simple short questions via email, however I may answer directly or I may reply telling you that I will cover that in class or it is best to explain the question in person. E-mail is a terribly inefficient way of communicating regarding this type of issues. General administrative matters such as the arrangement and the format for the assignments or exams will ONLY be discussed in class and no answers will be provided via email on these issues.

Documentation of Academic Concessions for Medical Reasons

- When there is a medical condition, you should inform me as early as possible and bring the formal doctor’s note when your health permits.
- If you see a doctor off-campus, please ask the doctor to complete the appropriate medical form and attach their letterhead with contact information.
- In the case of a missed final exam, the university procedure is for the student to submit a Request for Academic Concession form to Undergraduate Records and they will schedule the deferred exam.

Policy on third time attempts

According to the University of Victoria Calendar (http://web.uvic.ca/calendar)

“A student may not attempt a course a third time without the prior approval of the Dean of the Faculty and the Chair of the Department in which the course is offered unless the calendar course entry states that the course may be repeated for additional credit. A student who has not received this approval may be deregistered from the course at any point and may be asked to withdraw from his or her declared or intended program.”

In order to request permission to attempt this course for the third time, you must follow the instructions provided under the link repeating Courses at:

http://www.uvic.ca/socialsciences/economics/undergraduate/home/course%20policies/index.php

Failure to obtain permission will result in deregistration from the course.
