Attendance requirements: Online classes (via Zoom) are mandatory. Students will participate in case study presentations, regular Q&A sessions and discussion forums.

Course Description

This course examines fundamental characteristics of urban organization and development in the global South. We will analyze the central phenomena of urbanization and the outcomes as well as deriving challenges of urban development in these regions. The students will acquire knowledge on key social, economic, cultural and environmental urban planning, policy and community development issues. We will discuss several development paradigms and characteristics of everyday experiences in cities in the global South. Some characteristics might be similar to what we experience in the global North, others are fundamentally different. We will follow a problem-based and solution-oriented approach. We will have case study presentations followed by discussions and Q&A related to the course material. We begin with unpacking different concepts about development and urbanization and will then work on specific development challenges in megacities, towns of different sizes and in peri-urban regions and communities. You will further engage in a major research assignment exploring a specific topic related to the course content, which will be shared with a short presentation in class during week 13.
Learning Outcomes

- Have a fair understanding of characteristics and processes of urban organization and development in the global South, in different geographic and historic contexts.
- Acknowledge differences and similarities in urbanization processes and outcomes.
- Acquire knowledge on current social, economic, cultural, political and environmental issues in cities in the global South and some of the ways these challenges are being addressed.
- Apply critical thinking skills to the analysis of urban problems in both worlds.
- Get a better understanding of everyday experiences in some cities in the global South.
- Examine and interpret current urban development through geographical analysis.
- Enhance reporting and writing skills, improve debating and presentation skills.

Synchronized online classes (Thursdays) are marked in blue, the other classes are not online. The online class will be taped and uploaded weekly to the course material. The student is required to follow the instructions given each week in terms of working with the course material.

Course Readings

All assigned course readings have been uploaded onto our platform. Some of the assigned readings are from the following two course texts, which have other interesting articles you might also want to read. These course texts can be checked out from our library. Follow the link.

In addition, I have uploaded extra course materials which the student should also access.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND EVALUATION

I. Short digital Policy Brief on a key topic in urban development (20%)

Students will be assigned a date for their policy brief presentation. You will prepare a two-page written document or a short video formulated as a policy brief on one of the weekly key issues in urban development on one of the weekly topics in urban development. The policy brief is due on the date of the presentation. While scholarly in content, the brief should reach a non-academic readership (practitioners or policy makers). The brief should include text and visuals (e.g. graphics, tables, maps, photos). Alternatively, the student can also produce a 3 minutes video for their policy brief, engaging in the same research questions and content. A list of references with at least 5 academic peer reviewed articles used for your research should be attached (APA referencing style). The policy brief will be presented during the Thursday classes, complementing the lecture topic. A template with the expected content and format will be provided. You will have 3 to 5 minutes to present the main idea during the Thursday class. The assignment should not exceed 1,000 words or a 3-minute video clip.

II. Discussion Forum on Weekly Readings (20%)

As a way of engaging with the course material, students will post one question related to the required weekly readings and post answers to two questions from other students, starting in week 2 through to week 12. The questions need to be relevant and focus on the readings of the current week. Your posts should be correct in spelling and grammar. Posting deadline is always the Wednesday at 6PM (PDT). For example, the first Q&A session should be posted in week 2, on Wednesday, September 15th until 6PM, with a focus on the required readings listed under Week 2. Students should participate in all 10 posts throughout the course, to receive the full mark (20%). Each post is worth 2% You will only be able to see the questions and answers from other students if you submit your own question. Then you can read the posted questions and provide answers to two questions. Postings should not exceed 200 words each. Include to references websites or academic sources.

III. Research project (40%)

This assignment will assess your ability to do research outside of class and tie your analysis back to key themes covered during this week. Students will prepare a research paper focused on a topic of your interest on urban development in the global South. You will be able to work individually or in small groups of maximum 3 students. The paper should include a bibliography with all of your references, including 10 peer-reviewed academic journal references. A short 1-page research proposal is due in Week 5 (October 9th), with a one paragraph description of the relevance of the topic, a structured outline for your research paper and first references used in your initial research. Feedback will be provided. The final paper is due on midnight of December 8th. The research project is limited to 2,500 words (excluding the bibliography) (group projects will have a larger word limit (3,500) and require more peer reviewed references (12 references).

IV. Research Project Presentation (10%)

In week 13 you will present some of the key findings of your research project. You will be able to include video material, photos, graphics and tables in your presentation. The order and date of your presentations will be provided in Week 12.

V. Participation and Engagement (10%)
Active participation with direct interventions during online sessions (by signalling that you want to speak), through the Chat function in live classes and in the different discussion forums. Those students who have difficulties in participating online, due to different time zones should get in touch with me as soon as possible, for alternative arrangements.

POLICY ON LATE ASSIGNMENTS

We encourage you to stay on schedule as you work through your course material and assignments. To help you satisfy the course requirements, deadlines for each of the course assignments have been established to provide ample work time in which to complete the readings and undertake the activities and discussions. You should review all course requirements and due dates at the beginning of the course, compare these to your own schedule, and plan ahead accordingly. If you anticipate conflicts with your work schedule, please let the course instructor know immediately.

You are expected to work through the course materials and submit all assignments on time. All course participants are expected to complete all assignments and are graded on the same criteria.

POLICY ON ATTENDANCE
Our online sessions will start on time. As a sign of respect to the instructor and the rest of the class, late arrivals are discouraged, as are early departures. Students are expected to do the assigned readings to be prepared to participate in the Thursday class discussions.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

It is every student’s responsibility to be aware of the university’s policies on academic integrity, including policies on cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized use of an editor, multiple submission, and aiding others to cheat. Policy on Academic Integrity: web.uvic.ca/calendar/undergrad/info/regulations/academic-integrity.html. If you have any questions or doubts, talk to me, your course instructor. For more information, see uvic.ca/learningandteaching/cac/index.php.

ACCESSIBILITY

Students with diverse learning styles and needs are welcome in this course. In particular, if you have a documented disability or health consideration that may require accommodations, please feel free to approach me and/or the Centre for Accessible Learning (CAL) as soon as possible (uvic.ca/services/cal/). The CAL staff is available by appointment to assess specific needs, provide referrals, and arrange appropriate accommodations. The sooner you let us know your needs, the quicker we can assist you in achieving your learning goals in this course.

POSITIVITY AND SAFETY

The University of Victoria is committed to promoting, providing and protecting a positive and safe learning and working environment for all its members.

SEXUALIZED VIOLENCE PREVENTION AND RESPONSE AT UVIC

UVic takes sexualized violence seriously, and has raised the bar for what is considered acceptable behaviour. We encourage students to learn more about how the university defines sexualized violence and its overall approach by visiting uvic.ca/svp. If you or someone you know has been impacted by sexualized violence and needs information, advice, and/or support please contact the sexualized violence resource office in Equity and Human Rights (EQHR). Whether or not you have been directly impacted, if you want to take part in the important prevention work taking place on campus, you can also reach out:

COURSE EXPERIENCE SURVEY (CES)

I value your feedback on this course. Towards the end of term, as in all other courses at UVic, you will have the opportunity to complete an anonymous survey regarding your learning experience (CES). The survey is vital to providing feedback to me regarding the course and my teaching, as well as to help the department improve the overall program for students in the future. The survey is accessed via MyPage and can be done on your laptop, tablet, or mobile device. I will remind you and provide you with more detailed information nearer the time but please be thinking about this important activity during the course.

DISCLAIMER: The above schedule, policies, procedures, and assignments in this course are subject to change in the event of extenuating circumstances.

STUDENT WELLNESS

A note to remind you to take care of yourself. Do your best to maintain a healthy lifestyle this semester by eating well, exercising, getting enough sleep and taking some time to relax. This will help you achieve your goals and cope with stress. All of us benefit from support during times of struggle. You are not alone.
