COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course introduces students to how the world of geospatial data and technologies influences our daily lives and shapes society and the world around us. Students learn how to collect and utilize location-based data, how to develop web maps and mobile mapping apps, how to create technologies to respond to environmental disasters and humanitarian crises, and how to think spatially in order to improve our understanding of our planet. Lectures involve a lively mix of presentations and group interaction, as well as several opportunities to crowdsource data collection in order to solve geospatial problems. Lectures also provide students with training in how to use various mapping technologies in order to collect, map, analyze, and communicate data in power ways.

KEY THEMES: location-based data, geospatial technologies, spatial thinking and problem solving, location privacy

REQUIRED TEXTS AND SOFTWARE
The required text for this course is Our Digital Earth, which is free! Links to all readings will be provided. Kritik Peer Assessment Tool ($24); ArcGIS Online; Brightspace

LEARNING OUTCOMES
• Define appropriate modes of spatial thinking needed for addressing geographical questions.
• Collect and analyze geographic data to characterize spatial patterns of observations and spatial relationships between variables.
• Develop mobile app to facilitate the collection of geospatial data.
• Create web mapping applications to display spatial patterns and communicate information.
• Utilize technology theory to develop a geospatial tool to help with responding to an environmental disaster or humanitarian crisis.
• Understand issues of accessibility, privacy, and security with regards to geospatial data and technologies.
