Course Description:

In this course, we will examine the ‘Geography of Canada’ using critical theoretical perspectives. Rather than learning about different ‘parts’ of Canada in a regionalist approach, we will take will explore Canada’s historical, economic, cultural and political geographies. A particular focus of the course will be the production of Canada as a nation, and the ways this has been achieved through myths. Some of the themes that will be covered include place, space, colonialism, immigration, and wilderness. We will also discuss how these topics intersect with power, inequality, belonging and exclusions.

By understanding Canada through geographic themes, rather than regionalism, our class will have the opportunity to examine the social construction of ‘Canada’ through the politics and production of spaces. We will explore how landscape, borders, regions, territory, land, and environment are imagined, organized, contested and fought for by different people. This course will highlight ideas and myths surrounding Canada and Canadians have material effects.

“Nation,” “nationality,” and “nationalism” are necessary topics for this course, and are likely to arouse all kinds of feelings and responses. We will deal with these topics as well as various historical and contemporary social issues that will no doubt also elicit challenging and uncomfortable discussions. Regardless, we will not shy away from these topics. Instead, we will examine our beliefs about what Canada “is” and what it “should be”. We will do this with an open mind and respect for one another. For this to happen effectively, it is crucial that we make our classroom a safe space by respecting each other despite our differences.

Guiding Thoughts:

“A nation is a group of people who share the same illusions about themselves ... expressed in stories or core myths we tell about ourselves.” - Daniel Francis (1997:10)

“The real political task in a society such as ours is to criticize the workings of institutions that appear to be both neutral and independent, to criticize and attack them in such a manner that the political violence that has always exercised itself obscurely through them will be unmasked, so that one can fight against them.” -Michel Foucault (Chomsky and Foucault 1974: 171)

Required Materials

- Readings: Required readings, such as journal articles, book chapters, and other sources will be posted on the CourseSpaces site (http://CourseSpaces.uvic.ca/) and should be read thoroughly and brought to class. While readings are peripheral to learning in some courses, they are central to this one.
- Reading effectively is absolutely essential for success in this course. Be mindful that simply reading without engaging with the material (i.e. marking, highlighting, frequent re-reading, taking notes and critical reflection) will limit the movement of material from short to long term memory.

Note on CourseSpaces: You will access the CourseSpaces site for required readings, important announcements, assignment submissions, instructor notes, your grades and additional information.

Assessments

Students will be evaluated on the following required elements:

10% Participation: based on the quality of your contributions to class discussion, and/or extra-curricular involvement

30% Midterm Exams: Considering the length of each class (50mins), we will have two short in-class midterms (each worth 15%). One on September 30th and the other on October 25th.

25% Student Presentations: In-class group presentations and participation on geographies of Canada. Topics will be explored in class.

35% Final Exam: Take Home Exam consisting of two essay questions to be submitted online.
Course Policies

1. Collegial Respect: Do your part to ensure a classroom environment conducive to learning. Arriving late, talking, texting, surfing the internet etc. all disrupt the flow of the class and may impact your participation grade. Be respectful to the instructor and to colleagues. Being at university is a unique privilege. Be sure to make the most of it!

2. Late / Missing Work: If for a legitimate reason (e.g. verifiable serious illness or family emergency) you must miss the midterm/exam/assignment deadline you must notify the instructor before the date to make alternative arrangements. Failure to do so will result in a mark of zero. Your required hand-in assignments will be accepted up to three days after the due date with a 15% penalty applied per day. Extensions will only be granted ahead of the deadline and with a doctor’s note or equivalent – travel is not considered a reason to miss a deadline or exam.

3. Accessibility: Students with diverse learning styles and needs are welcome in this course. In particular, if you have a disability/health consideration that may require accommodations, please feel free to approach me and/or the Resource Centre for Students with a Disability (RCSD) as soon as possible. The RCSD staff are available by appointment to assess specific needs, provide referrals and arrange appropriate accommodations http://rcsd.uvic.ca/.

4. Email: I often receive a high volume of emails and may not always be able to respond in less than 48 hours. Be sure to plan ahead, read the syllabus closely and/or ask peers for clarification.

5. Withdrawal: For information regarding withdrawal from class, please see: http://web.uvic.ca/calendar2015/FACS/UnIn/UARe/With.html for dates and other information.

6. Academic Integrity: Please review http://web.uvic.ca/calendar2015/FACS/UnIn/UARe/PoAcI.html for university policy on academic integrity and useful information on avoiding plagiarism, falsifying results, cheating on assignments etc. Any form of academic dishonesty will result in an automatic “F” for that assignment or test and possibly the course for ALL individuals involved. Note: plagiarism detection software will be used in this class.

7. Grade Revisions: If you believe your grade does not reflect the quality of your work, you may resubmit the assignment with a one or two paragraph justification for why your mark should be changed.

8. I value your feedback on this course. Towards the end of term, as in all other courses at UVic, you will have the opportunity to complete an anonymous survey regarding your learning experience (CES). The survey is vital to providing feedback to me regarding the course and my teaching, as well as to help the department improve the overall program for students in the future. The survey is accessed via MyPage and can be done on your laptop, tablet, or mobile device. I will remind you and provide you with more detailed information nearer the time but please be thinking about this important activity during the course.

Note on Undergraduate Grading: Grading practices and procedures are guided by University policies specified in the Calendar. The geography department is concerned about the potential problem of grade inflation and wishes to ensure equity in grading standards among colleagues. In cases in which grades for a course are substantially outside normal ranges, the department Chair may ask the instructor to justify or revise those grades. Instructors submit grades online as soon as they have been approved by the Chair. If the grades for a course are not available online, it means that the grades have not yet been approved by the Chair, and any grades posted elsewhere are unofficial and subject to change.

Students should pay particular attention to the qualitative indicators associated with each grade:

- A+ (90-100%); A (85-89%); A- (80-84%) Exceptional, outstanding and excellent performance—normally achieved only by a small group of students. These grades indicate a student who is self-initiating, exceeds expectation and has an insightful grasp of the subject matter.

- B+ (77-79%); B (73-76%) Very good / acceptable work fulfilling expectations. These grades indicate a good or satisfactory grasp of the subject matter or excellent grasp in one area with no major weakness.

- B (70-72%); C+ (65-69); C (60-64%); D (50-59): Deficiencies in knowledge, understanding or techniques; Mastery of some relevant techniques or concepts lacking.

- F (0-49): Failing grade—unsatisfactory performance.
