

Social Sciences Field Course Student Support Fund
GUIDELINES and APPLICATION
2017-2018 (Pilot)

Program Objectives

The Social Sciences Field Course Student Support Fund has been developed to enhance students' access to experiential learning opportunities. The intent of this fund is to defray some of the supplementary costs (not tuition fees) of Social Sciences field courses for students with financial need. This is a pilot for 2017-2018. Students can receive support from this fund a maximum of once per academic year.

Field Course Definition

A field course is an applied course of study that takes place outside the classroom, usually off campus. It is typically delivered within a compressed time-frame.

Eligibility Requirements

- Declared major in Social Sciences
- Demonstrated financial need
- Good academic standing with a minimum sessional GPA of 5.0
- Not yet received support from this fund for this academic year.

Evaluation Criteria and Process

Applications will be evaluated by the Social Sciences Associate Dean, Undergraduate Studies and the Social Sciences Community Engaged Learning Coordinator who will make recommendations to the Dean. The amount of costs covered will depend on the number of applicants and the cost of the field course.

Criteria for evaluation are: 1) financial need (75%); and 2) contribution of the field course to the student's academic and career goals (25%). Included within the second criteria will be special consideration for students for whom this is their first field course experience.

Social Sciences field course fees range from $300-$4500. To maximize the number of students who benefit from this fund, fewer awards will be allocated to students who are submitting this application for a field course with high-range supplementary costs.

Students will be notified of the outcome of their application two weeks after the submission deadline. Funds will be applied directly to the cost of field course fees through the applicant's department.

Application Submission Dates

Applications for this fund will be received within the following periods:

- 1) Opens February 7th and closes February 15th for field courses in the Summer Session;
- 2) Opens May 16th and closes May 24th for field courses in the Winter Session (First and Second Term).
