Course Number/Title/Description: GEOG 373: APPLIED CLIMATOLOGY – A study of the application of physical principles to practical problems in climatology and the reciprocal interaction between climate and human activities. Topics include: urban effects on climate; air pollution; human bioclimatology; agricultural climatology; and methods of microclimatic modification.

Duration of Appointments (to be confirmed): Spring Term: January 7 through April 30, 2019

Number of Available Labs:

Spring Term: 2

Hourly Rate:

$25.53

Number of Hours per Lab Appointment:

98

Average Weekly Hours per Appointment:

approximately 6 hours per week

Minimum Skills Required:

Good communication skills. Must have a solid background and at least one senior undergraduate Climatology course with a grade of “A-” or higher. General computer competence is essential. Good command of spoken and written English.

Duties and Responsibilities:

• participate in weekly meetings or workshops
• provide in-lab instruction and/or assistance
• prepare for weekly labs
• student consultation (office hours)
• grading of mid-term exams
• grading of final exam
• grading of weekly lab assignments
• grading of term papers/reports

Submit a completed application form by Friday, November 30th 2018 before noon. Graduate students will normally be contacted via email within 2 weeks following this closing date. Non-graduate students may be contacted as late as the first week of each term.

Forms are available through the departmental website at http://www.uvic.ca/socialsciences/geography/coop/Current-Opportunities/SI/index.php. Completed forms may be mailed to the department c/o Philip Wakefield, Laboratory Supervisor OR e-mailed to Phil at “pmw@uvic.ca” OR faxed to Phil at (250) 721-6216.

1 The number of positions available is subject to the terms of individual Graduate Student “Offers of Funding”, available funding, and/or course cancellation.
2 Effective September 1, 2018 (see the latest CUPE 4163 Collective Agreement).
3 Weekly hours vary based upon the marking requirements of individual courses, especially mid-term and final exams, and term projects/reports.
4 The position duties and responsibilities may include, but are not limited to, those listed above.

The University of Victoria is an equity employer and encourages applications from women, persons with disabilities, visible minorities, aboriginal persons, people of all sexual orientations and genders, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of the university [Article 13.01(h) of the CUPE 4163 Collective Agreement]. In order to work for the Department, you must be either a Canadian citizen, or you must be in the country and attending the University of Victoria under a student visa.