

Past and Present SJS 400B Practicum Partners:

The actual proposed practicum partners may change from year to year. The available practicum partners for the coming year are not finalized until early in the preceding fall semester. Students are also welcome to propose other possible practicum partners or discuss their activist interests to help identify possible practicums with the Director of Social Justice Studies at ajs@uvic.ca. Students planning to take SJS 400B should register for the course by mid-October in the preceding semester to insure that they meet with the Director in the fall semester to plan their practicum before the spring semester begins. Students who wish to register for the course late in the fall semester need to consult with the Director immediately to ensure that there is sufficient time available to arrange their practicum.
