All of: PSYC 351B

2 of: PSYC 351A, PSYC 351C, PSYC 351D

Completed or currently enrolled in all of:

PSYC 300B (Statistical Methods in Psychology II)

Course Overview

In this class, we will learn all about cognition and the brain, primarily through the lens of case studies. Most of these case studies involve lesion patients, but we will also cover some interesting neuropsychological disorders. The course will be broadly divided into themes centering around various cognitive functions (e.g., attention, memory). Each class we will read and discuss a scientific paper related to the week's theme. Assigned papers will span the domains of cognitive psychology, clinical psychology, medicine, and neuroscience and will include a variety of scientific and methodological techniques including patient work, MRI, TMS, and intracranial recordings. I hope you find this content as interesting as I do!

Grading

Reading responses: 25%

Participation: 25%

Written Assignment: 30% (5% proposal + 25% paper)

Reading presentation: 15% (7.5% presentation + 7.5% discussion)

Final presentation: 5%

Extra credit: 2%

- Reading responses (25%)
- Each class, you will be assigned a 1-2 readings, which you will need to comment on using Perusall. Your comments must be submitted by 12 pm on class day (this gives me time to review your comments in preparation for our discussion). Please see Perusall Instructions document for instructions.

 Note: your 2 lowest reading response scores will be dropped. Your final reading response grade will be an average of all remaining scores.*

- Participation (25%)
- To get the most out of this class, participation in both class discussion and activities is key. Participation can take many forms including: regular attendance, showing up on time, being engaged, being respectful of others, asking for clarification, sharing insights, voicing, or demonstrating agreement or disagreement, raising questions of interest, responding to classmates' questions, etc. Throughout the semester, you will also have several opportunities to provide brief written responses to our discussions around a specific topic. These responses will be done in class, typically towards the end of a unit, and will be considered as part of your overall participation grade. Note that your participation grade will reflect the entire semester, so it is important that you try to engage with the material and your classmates on a regular basis.
 I will post a tentative grade (subject to change) mid-way through the semester to update you on your progress regarding participation. You will then have the opportunity to increase your participation in the second half of the semester.*
- Written Assignment (30%)
- For your written assignment, you will find and present a case study of a patient that challenges a widely held view or theory of brain organization/cognition. Your case study cannot be one from class (although you may find other cases with similar lesions/damage) but must challenge one of the theories covered in class. Your paper should include a summary of the patient's lesion and (spared and impaired) cognitive abilities and a discussion of how their profile challenges a widely held theory. Finally, you should address how (a) another theory or (b) a modification to the discussed theory would better fit the presented data. Your paper should be between 6-8 (maximum) pages.
- Reading presentation (15%)
- Using a form that I will send out on the first week of class, you will sign up to present one of the assigned readings in a short (~7-10 minute) presentation. Presentations may be done individually or in pairs depending on class size. You are responsible for ensuring that your materials are prepared to present (you can do this by either signing into your UVic account on the AV system or by connecting your laptop with an adaptor that you will need to bring).
- On the day of your presentation, you or your group will also be responsible for guiding our class discussion. You can do this by either asking questions, leading an activity, or both. You must upload your questions/ activity to Brightspace at least 24 hours before your presentation. Please check Brightspace before class for feedback.
- Final presentation (5%)
- For your final presentation, you will share your written assignment with the class in a data blitz format. You will have 5 minutes (+1 min for questions) to present your case, how it challenges a widely held theory, and how you would "solve" that problem.
- Extra credit (2%)
- You can earn up to 2% extra credit toward your final grade by participating in research studies conducted in the Department of Psychology. One hour of participation earns you 1 SONA credit. Credits are given in 0.5 increments, with 2 credits required for a 1% increase in your final grade. For details on participating in research studies, go to the Department of Psychology web site: <https://www.uvic.ca/socialsciences/psychology/research/participants/>. You must be sure to assign your credits to this course (and this section of the course) no later than the last day of class, otherwise you will not receive extra credit in this course.
 - If you do not wish to participate in research studies for some reason, but still wish to have the opportunity to earn an equivalent amount of extra credit, you may contact me to arrange for an alternative option involving an assignment. If you wish to select this option, you must notify me by no later than Oct 15.

* Students who have completed the following elements will be considered to have completed the course: 50% of reading responses, written assignment

- Failure to complete one or more of these elements will result in a grade of “N” regardless of the cumulative percentage of all other elements of the course. N is a failing grade and factors into GPA as a value of 0.
- In accordance with the University’s policy on academic concessions, “A student who completes all course requirements is not eligible for an academic concession”. Consequently, students can only request deferrals for the completion of required course components and not for non-essential course components.
- The University of Victoria is committed to creating a learning experience that is as accessible as possible. If you are registered with the Centre for Accessible Learning and anticipate or experience any barriers to learning in this course, please feel welcome to discuss your concerns with me. If you are a student with a disability or chronic health condition, you can meet with a CAL advisor to discuss access and accommodations.

Course Policies

1. Assignments: Your assignment should be written in 12-point Times New Roman font and double spaced with standard 1-inch margins. Any portion of your writing which draws on an outside source must follow APA citation guidelines (7th edition). Assignments submitted within the first 48 hours after the deadline will incur a late penalty of 1% per day. Beginning on the third day after the deadline, the late penalty increases to 5% per day. Assignments will not be accepted after the last day of class.
2. Academic Integrity: You are not permitted to use an external editor or generative artificial intelligence without explicit permission from the instructor, which may be granted in exceptional circumstances (e.g., translation tools). I reserve the right to use cheating detection software or other platforms to assess the integrity of student work. Suspected violations of UVic’s academic integrity policy (<https://www.uvic.ca/students/academics/academic-integrity/index.php>) will be reported to and dealt with by the undergraduate chair.
3. Etiquette: In this class, you will be expected to follow the same standards for etiquette as are expected of any academic or professional (and definitely of a scientist/psychologist).

Respect: As with any class or work environment, you will be expected to demonstrate respect for your instructor, your colleagues, and yourself. While debates and disagreements are to be expected, it is important that professionalism is maintained at all times. This means refraining from any personal attacks (e.g., “you wouldn’t understand because you’re ____”) or phrasing/language that might belittle or hurt others (e.g., “how could you think that? That doesn’t make any sense”), whether intentional or unintentional. Instead, please practice positive language (e.g., “that’s a great point. Though I might add ____”). Keep in mind that others in the classroom may bring different and unique perspectives that may differ from your own but are no less valid. In fact, hearing diverse perspectives may even help you to better understand or engage with the research in question. Following these rules will help us to collectively cultivate a safe and warm atmosphere for discussion, which will support all our learning!

Note:* As with other STEM fields, Psychology has a history of excluding or marginalizing under-represented minorities (URMs). We can do our part to combat historical and current injustices not only through our work, but also through our practices. As you progress through this class, I encourage you to consider the role of privilege in who has the ability to conduct, and obtain access to, science, and to think about what you personally, and we as a field, can do to amplify the voices of URMs.

4. Presentations: As this is a seminar style class, you will be graded on oral presentations. There will be no substitutions for presentations. If you are a nervous presenter, I am happy to work with you towards the goal of presenting in class. Keep in mind that the goal of these presentations is to practice oral presentation skills- you are not expected to be an expert, but you are expected to try your best.
5. In-class Participation: As noted above, you are expected to maintain professionalism and respect in all class discussions and activities. A few other things to keep in mind: while discussions can be light and fun, and we will occasionally go off on tangents, please do try to keep your comments on topic. Similarly, while personal experience can often be relevant to the topic at hand, the goal of our in-class discussions and activities is to engage with the readings. Sometimes it can be interesting to relate the readings to a topic of personal interest or experience, but to get the most out of this class, I expect you to go beyond the material you are most comfortable or familiar with.

Readings

Readings will be posted on Perusall. You should come to class having already read the required papers carefully. They will form the basis of our discussions each class, which you will be expected to take part in (this will contribute to your participation grade).

* Note that the readings posted on Perusall may change. Science is fluid and new papers are published every day with the potential to shift our thinking. I may decide to change the assigned papers based on our class discussions or emerging research that I find relevant. You will always be advised of these changes a minimum of 1 week in advance.

Important dates

Sep 22: Last day for 100% reduction of tuition fees for standard first term and full year courses

Sep 25: Last day for adding courses that begin in the first term (except Faculty of Law)

Sep 30: Last day for paying first term fees without penalty

Oct 13: Last day for 50% reduction of tuition fees for standard courses

Oct 31: Last day for withdrawing from first term courses without penalty of failure

UNIVERSITY OF VICTORIA

Department of Psychology Important Course Policy Information Fall Session 2026

Accessible Learning

The University of Victoria is committed to creating a learning experience that is as accessible as possible. If you are registered with the Centre for Accessible Learning and anticipate or experience any barriers to learning in this course, please feel welcome to discuss your concerns with me. If you are a student with a disability or chronic health condition, you can meet with a CAL advisor to discuss access and accommodations.

Attendance and Absences

Attendance is important. Students who do not attend their classes during the first two weeks (and do not inform the instructor of valid circumstances that prevent their attendance) may be dropped from both class registration and the waitlist.

Students are expected to attend all classes in which they are enrolled. Students may be assigned a final grade of N or debarred from writing final examinations if they fail to satisfy a minimum attendance requirement set by the instructor for lectures, laboratories, online course discussions or learning activities, tutorials, or other learning activities set out in the course outline.

Medical documentation for short-term absences is not required (approved by Senate). Students who cannot attend due to illness are asked to notify their instructors immediately. If illness, accident, or family affliction causes a student to miss the final exam or to fail to complete any required assignment/assessment by the end of the term students are required to submit a request for academic concession (see below).

Children and Pets

If you need to bring your children or pet to class, please do not hesitate to do so. It is understood that sometimes this is necessary due to care circumstances. However, please aim to have minimal class disturbance so that student learning is not impacted.

Class Recording and Auto-Captioning Statement

The instructor may record class sessions and those recordings may be made available to all students in the class via Brightspace. If you have questions or concerns regarding class recording and privacy, please contact privacyinfo@uvic.ca

Auto-generated captioning may be enabled in this course. Auto-captioning is highly error-prone, especially for specialized terminology and proper names. Students are asked to refer to the audio feed for clarification of any errors. If you find captioning errors that are offensive, please contact your instructor and/or teaching assistant so that they are aware. If you require captions as part of an academic accommodation, please contact CAL.

Commitment to Inclusivity, Diversity, and Respectful Environments in the Classroom and Online

The University of Victoria is committed to providing a positive and supportive and safe learning and working environment for all its members. All members of the university community have the right to this experience and the responsibility to help create such an environment. The University will not tolerate racism, sexualized violence, or any form of discrimination, bullying, or harassment.

Please be advised that, by logging into UVic's learning systems or interacting with online resources and course-related communication platforms, you are engaging in a University activity.

All interactions within this environment are subject to the university expectations and policies. Any concerns about student conduct may be reviewed and responded to in accordance with the appropriate university policy.

To report concerns about online student conduct: onlineconduct@uvic.ca

Copyright

All course content and materials are made available by instructors for educational purposes and for the exclusive use of students registered in their class¹. The material is protected under copyright law, even if not marked with ©. Any further use or distribution of materials to others requires the written permission of the instructor, except under fair dealing or another exception in the Copyright Act. Violations may result in disciplinary action under the Resolution of Non-Academic Misconduct Allegations policy \(AC1300\) or the Academic Integrity Policy, whichever is more appropriate for the situation.

Student Experience of Learning (SEL) Survey

I value your feedback on this course. Toward the end of term, you will have the opportunity to complete a confidential Student Experience of Learning (SEL) survey regarding your learning experience. The survey is vital to providing feedback to the instructor regarding the course and their teaching, as well as to help the department improve the overall program for students in the future. When it is time for you to complete the survey, you will receive an email inviting you to do so. If you do not receive an email invitation, you can go directly to <http://sel.uvic.ca>. You will need to use your UVic NetLink ID to access the survey, which can be done on your laptop, tablet or mobile device. You will be reminded nearer the time, but please be thinking about this important activity, especially the following three questions, during the course.

1. What strengths did your instructor demonstrate that helped you learn in this course?
2. Please provide specific suggestions as to how the instructor could have helped you learn more effectively.
3. Please provide specific suggestions as to how this course could be improved.

Disclaimer

The schedule, policies, procedures, and assignments in this course are subject to change in the event of extenuating circumstances.

Grading

In classes that are based on a percentage grading scheme, the following Undergraduate Grading Scale is used

Grade	A+	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	D	F
Percentage	90-100	85-89	80-84	77-79	73-76	70-72	65-69	60-64	51-59	< 50
GP Value	9	8	7	6	5	4	3	2	1	0

Rounding is only applied to the final grade and is rounded up at the 0.5% level (e.g., 84.49% is rounded to 84% and 84.50% is rounded to 85%).

Medical Documentation for absences

No medical documentation for short-term absences is required (Approved by Senate).

If you are seeking a Withdrawal Extenuating Circumstances or an Aegrotat grade, medical documentation may be required if relevant.

Ombudsperson and Academic Concerns

From the course calendar: Depending on the nature of the academic matter of concern to the student, the order in which the student should normally try to resolve the matter is: first, the course instructor; second, the Chair of the department; third, the Dean of the faculty; and finally, the Senate.

If you have an academic concern or problem that cannot be resolved with your instructor or the Department Associate Chair, you may wish to consult with the Office of the Ombudsperson (<https://uvicombudsperson.ca>). Current contact information for the office can be found here <https://uvicombudsperson.ca/contact/>.

Policy on Academic Integrity including Plagiarism and Cheating

The Department of Psychology fully endorses and intends to adhere to the Senate Policy on Academic Integrity.

¹ Syllabi belong to the department through which the course is administered.

As per the student academic integrity website:

“Academic integrity is built on honesty, respect, and fairness. Students, faculty, and staff at UVic are members of an intellectual community. As such, it’s expected that we’ll adhere to ethical values in all our learning, teaching, and research.”

This policy is in place to ensure that students’ work is being evaluated fairly and that students carry out and benefit from the learning activities assigned in each course.

The offences defined by the policy can be summarized briefly as follows:

1. Plagiarism. You must make sure that the work you submit is your work and not another person or a Content Generator. There are proper procedures for citing the works of others. The student is responsible for being aware of and using these procedures.
2. Unauthorized Use of an Editor or Content Generator. The use of an Editor or Content Generator is prohibited unless the instructor grants explicit written authorization.
3. Multiple Submission without Prior Permission. Only under exceptional circumstances may a work submitted to fulfill an academic requirement be used to satisfy another similar requirement. The student is responsible for clarifying this with the instructor(s) involved.
4. Falsifying Materials Subject to Academic Evaluation. This includes falsification of data, use of commercially prepared essays, using information from the Internet without proper citation, citing sources from which material is not actually obtained, etc.
5. Cheating on Work, Tests, and Examinations. You may not copy the work of others in or out of class; you may not give your work to others for the purpose of copying; you may not use unauthorized material or equipment during examinations or tests; and you may not impersonate or allow yourself to be impersonated by another at an examination. The Department of Psychology has a policy of not making old examinations available for study purposes. Therefore, use of old exams without the express written permission of the instructor constitutes cheating by the user, and abetting of cheating by the person who provided the exam.
6. Aiding Others. It is a violation to help others or attempt to help others to engage in any of the conduct described above.

The use of a generative artificial intelligence (AI) is strictly prohibited in any submitted work (unless expressly endorsed by the instructor as part of an assignment).

Instructors can take actions to prevent cheating and plagiarism. This may include the assignment of seating for examinations, asking students to move during examinations, requests to see student identification cards, and other measures as appropriate. Instructors also have available to them a variety of university approved tools and procedures to check for Internet and electronic media-based cheating. In instances of suspected academic integrity violations, instructors will follow prescribed procedures for alleged academic dishonesty. If academic dishonesty is likely, instructors can take steps consistent with the degree of the offence (see the academic integrity section on policy violations).

Rights of Appeal are described in the Policy on Academic Integrity in the University calendar September 2026.

Prerequisites

Students who remain in courses for which they do not have the prerequisites do so at their own risk. Students who complete courses without prerequisites ARE NOT exempt from having to complete the prerequisite course(s) if such courses are required for the degree program.

Program Requirements

For more information see the UVic Calendar.

Registration Status

Students are responsible for verifying their registration status. Registration status may be verified using My Page, View Schedule. Course adds and drops will not be processed after the deadlines set out in the current UVic Calendar.

Students who do not attend classes must not assume that they have been dropped from a course by an academic unit or an instructor. Courses that are not formally dropped will be given a failing grade, students may be required to withdraw and will be required to pay the tuition fee for the course.

Request for Academic Concessions

Students can apply for academic concessions if their course requirements are affected by (i) unexpected and/or unavoidable circumstances (e.g., illness, family affliction, Indigenous cultural or community obligations, etc.), or (ii) conflicting responsibilities (e.g., service in the armed forces or first responder, representing the university).

- Request an in-course extension
If you require more time to complete a course requirement or miss a test or midterm exam, then you will need to complete the “In-Course Extension Form” and submit it directly to your course instructor. All course requirements must be completed prior to the submission of final grades.
- What to do if you miss the final exam scheduled during the formal exam period
Apply at Records Services for a “Request for Academic Concession”, normally within 10 working days of the date of the exam. Records Services will forward the form to the instructor. If the concession is granted, the instructor will determine how to deal with the situation (for example, a deferred exam). Where a concession is not applied for or where such application is denied, an N grade will be entered on the student’s academic record.
- What to do if you require additional time to complete course requirements beyond the normal term.
Apply at Records Services for a “Request for Academic Concession”, normally within 10 working days of the end of the course. Records Services will forward the form to the instructor. If the concession is granted, the instructor will determine how to deal with the situation. Where a concession is not applied for or where such application is denied, an N grade will be entered on the student’s academic record if the missing work has been deemed required. Note, only required course components may be deferred.

Research Participation Opportunities with the Department of Psychology

The Department of Psychology offers multiple opportunities to participate in research studies over the year. Students are encouraged to learn more about the field of psychology by volunteering in these studies. Information about studies can often be found posted on notice boards around the Department as well as through our Participant Pool webpage at <https://www.uvic.ca/socialsciences/psychology/research/participants/>.

Student Code of Conduct

The Student Code of Conduct explains how University policies regarding student behaviour are interpreted and applied within the Faculties of Humanities, Science and Social Sciences.

This classroom is a trans-inclusive space

Please indicate if you have a preferred name and pronoun that you'd like to be used in the classroom. Please e-mail your instructor or your TA if you would like to discuss the climate of this classroom for trans students. Gender neutral bathrooms are available at UVic.

University of Victoria Students' Society (UVSS)

The UVSS is a social justice based non-profit run by students, for students and is entirely separate from UVic. As an undergrad student, you are already a member! We work on issues affecting students such as affordability, public transit, sexualized violence, sustainability, student employment, and much more. We fund clubs and course unions, and have several advocacy groups. We also have a Food Bank and Free Store, a Peer Support Centre, and run your health and dental plan. We are here to support you, so please reach out to us at uvss.ca!

Sexualized Violence Prevention and Response at UVic

UVic takes sexualized violence seriously, and has raised the bar for what is considered acceptable behaviour. We encourage students to learn more about how the university defines sexualized violence and its overall approach by visiting www.uvic.ca/svp. If you or someone you know has been impacted by sexualized violence and needs information, advice, and/or support please contact the sexualized violence resource office in Equity and Human Rights (EQHR). Whether or not you have been directly impacted, if you want to take part in the important prevention work taking place on campus, you can also reach out:

Where: Office of Equity and Human Rights, Sedgewick Building, Room C133

Phone: 250 721 8021

BE WELL

A note to remind you to take care of yourself. Do your best to maintain a healthy lifestyle this semester by eating well, exercising, getting enough sleep and taking some time to relax. This will help you achieve your goals and cope with stress. All of us benefit from support during times of struggle. You are not alone.

Social Life, Friends, & Community at UVic:

Having a social network is an extremely important foundation for positive mental health. There are lots of benefits to joining clubs, course unions, intramurals and teams on campus.

<https://www.uvic.ca/undergraduate/housing-student-life/student-life/index.php>

Counselling Services:

The Student Wellness Centre can help you make the most of your university experience. They offer free professional, confidential, inclusive support to currently registered UVic students. <https://www.uvic.ca/student-wellness/contacts/student-wellness-team/index.php#ipn-counsellors>

Health Services:

The Student Wellness Centre also provides a full service primary health clinic for students. <https://www.uvic.ca/student-wellness/contacts/student-wellness-team/index.php#ipn-physicians>

Centre for Accessible Learning:

The CAL staff are available by appointment to assess specific needs, provide referrals and arrange appropriate accommodations <https://www.uvic.ca/accessible-learning/index.php>. The sooner you let us know your needs, the quicker we can assist you in achieving your learning goals in this course.

Elders' Voices:

The Office of Indigenous Academic and Community Engagement (IACE) has the privilege of assembling a group of Elders from local communities to guide students, staff, faculty and administration in Indigenous ways of knowing and being. www.uvic.ca/services/indigenous/students/programming/elders/

Mental Health Supports and Services:

Mental health supports and services are available to students from all areas of the UVic community: <https://www.uvic.ca/student-wellness/wellness-resources/mental-health/>
