SUGGESTED TEXT: Clinical Psychology: Science, Practice, and Culture
By: A.M. Pomerantz

PURPOSE: During this class I will address concepts, methods, and professional issues in clinical psychology, as well as the historical development of the profession, the scientist/practitioner model of training and practice, current clinical methods, ethical issues, and controversies of treatment approach.

I will focus on competencies of both the practitioner and the client/patient. In addition, discussion will include assumptions/weaknesses as well as strengths of particular approaches to specific disorders, such as the usefulness of Cognitive-Behavioural Therapy for pre-pubescent children.

Prerequisites for this course are PSYC 260 and PSYC 201; or permission of the department. Students who remain in this course who do not have these prerequisites do so at their own peril and are not exempt from having to complete the prerequisite courses if required for the degree program. Students are responsible for checking their registration status before the end of the add period. Students will not be added after this deadline.

EVALUATION:

1. In-class Discussions: There will be five in-class assignments/projects (1% each). These will be in the format of Group Discussions. They will be held on September 14, September 28, October 12, October 26, November 23, 2017.

   TOTAL VALUE: 5%

2. Assignments: There will be three written assignments (10% each), out of several topics given, due in class on the dates indicated below. Each assignment will involve preparing a short discussion paper (maximum = three double-spaced pages). They are due on: September 14, September 28, October 12, October 26, November 16, November 23, 2017. (Choose 3 of the 6 dates).

   TOTAL VALUE: 30%

3. Examinations: There will be one quiz (5%) and three short answer examinations (15% each for Exam #1, #2, #3) covering information presented in the class and in class discussions.

   TOTAL VALUE: 50%

4. Project: Choose one of the following options.

   OPTION A

   Major essay: It will involve preparing a discussion paper (maximum = ten double-spaced pages, approximately 3000 words) in response to a topic approved by the instructor. No late papers will be accepted.

   Essay is due: November 20, 2017.

   TOTAL VALUE: 15%

   OPTION B

   Journal: Keep a journal with at least two entries per week (ideally one for each class day) reflecting your thoughts regarding key concepts in clinical evaluation, assessment as well as controversies. Include articles of interest with a commentary – these may be from a newspaper or any other form of mainstream media.

   Journal is due: November 20, 2017.

   TOTAL VALUE: 15%

Note: You are responsible for materials in lectures you do not attend. Tests and examinations will contain short-answer questions. Missed examinations with a valid reason will be made up at the earliest convenient time. If you miss an examination due to illness, accident, or family affliction, you must apply get in touch with the instructor. Missed examinations without a valid reason will receive a score of zero.
Mini Assignment Topics

You will be choosing THREE of these.

1. What are the pros and cons of taking a specific approach to a particular disorder within clinical psychology?

2. Discuss three key societal changes you anticipate will influence how clinical psychology is delivered to clients in the upcoming 20 years.

3. Discuss the role clinical psychologists should have in the prescription and discussion of medications for clients with mental health problems.

4. Discuss one particular cultural treatment approach that differs significantly from the most common ethnocentric approaches now used in Canada.

5. Choose one of the key approaches to understanding personality and present the benefits of this particular approach regardless of what is presented in mainstream media (present 2 or 3 of the myths usually accepted in mainstream media). (e.g., psychodynamic, behavioural, trauma-informed, humanism etc.)

6. Relate fundamental principles of clinical psychology and how they are used with benefit in the field of health psychology and behavioural medicine.
Prerequisites

Students who remain in courses for which they do not have the prerequisites do so at their own risk. Students who complete courses without prerequisites ARE NOT exempt from having to complete the prerequisite course(s) if such courses are required for the degree program.

Program Requirements

For more information see pages 308-313 of the UVic Calendar September 2017.

Registration Status

Students are responsible for verifying their registration status. Registration status may be verified using My Page, View Schedule. Course adds and drops will not be processed after the deadlines set out in the current UVic Calendar.

Commitment to Inclusivity and Diversity

The University of Victoria is committed to promoting, providing and protecting a positive and supportive and safe learning and working environment for all its members.

In the Event of Illness, Accident or Family Affliction (See UVic Calendar, September 2017, p. 49-51)

• What to do if you miss the final exam scheduled during the formal exam period

Apply at Records Services for a “Request for Academic Concession”, normally within 10 working days of the date of the exam. Records Services will forward the form to the instructor. If the concession is granted, the instructor will determine how to deal with the situation (for example, a deferred exam). Where a concession is not applied for or where such application is denied, an N grade will be entered on the student’s academic record. OR, you can download the Request for Academic Concession form here:
http://www.uvic.ca/registrar/assets/docs/record-forms/rac.pdf

• What to do if you miss an exam other than one scheduled during the formal exam period

Do not apply at Records Services for a “Request for Academic Concession”. Instead submit documentation of the illness, accident or family affliction directly to your course instructor (or designated teaching assistant).

• What to do if you require additional time to complete course requirements

Apply at Records Services for a “Request for Academic Concession”, normally within 10 working days of the end of the course. Records Services will forward the form to the instructor. If the concession is granted, the instructor will determine how to deal with the situation (for example, a deferred exam). Where a concession is not applied for or where such application is denied, an N grade will be entered on the student’s academic record. Policy on Academic Integrity including Plagiarism and Cheating

The Department of Psychology fully endorses and intends to enforce rigorously the Senate Policy on Academic integrity http://web.uvic.ca/calendar2017-09/undergrad/info/regulations/academic-integrity.html, p. 46-48, UVic Calendar September 2017). It is of utmost importance that students who do their work honestly be protected from those who do not. Because this policy is in place to ensure that students carry out and benefit from the learning activities assigned in each course, it is expected that students will cooperate in its implementation.

The offences defined by the policy can be summarized briefly as follows:

1. Plagiarism. You must make sure that the work you submit is your work and not someone else’s. There are proper procedures for citing the works of others. The student is responsible for being aware of and using these procedures.

2. Unauthorized Use of an Editor. The use of an editor is prohibited unless the instructor grants explicit written authorization.

3. Multiple Submission. Only under exceptional circumstances may a work submitted to fulfill an academic requirement be used to satisfy another similar requirement. The student is responsible for clarifying this with the instructor(s) involved.

4. Falsifying Materials Subject to Academic Evaluation. This includes falsification of data, use of commercially prepared essays, using information from the Internet without proper citation, citing sources from which material is not actually obtained, etc.

5. Cheating on Assignments, Tests, and Examinations. You may not copy the work of others in or out of class; you may not give your work to others for the purpose of copying; you may not use unauthorized material or equipment during examinations or tests; and you may not impersonate or allow yourself to be impersonated by another at an examination. The Department of Psychology has a policy of not making old examinations available for study purposes. Therefore, use of old exams without the express written permission of the instructor constitutes cheating by the user, and abetting of cheating by the person who provided the exam.

6. Being an Accessory to Offences. This means that helping another student to cheat (for instance, by showing or communicating to them answers to an assignment, or by allowing them to view answers on an exam) is an academic offence.

Instructors are expected to make every effort to prevent cheating and plagiarism. This may include the assignment of seating for examinations, asking students to move during examinations, requests to see student identification cards, and other measures as appropriate. Instructors also have available to them a variety of tools and procedures to check for Internet and electronic media-based cheating. In instances of suspected or actual plagiarism or cheating, instructors, following prescribed procedures, are authorized to take steps consistent with the degree of the offence. These measures will range from a zero on the test or assignment or a failing grade for the course, probation within a program to temporary or even permanent suspension from the University.

Rights of Appeal are described in the Policy on Academic Integrity in the University calendar (on p. 47 in September 2017).
