UVic scholar honoured for research into the ancient world

A curiosity about the ancient world has taken University of Victoria archaeologist John Oleson (pictured above) from excavating the high Jordanian desert to harnessing the power of a nuclear submarine to scan the bottom of the Mediterranean Sea. His dedication to learning more about life millennia ago has earned him many academic honours and the Royal Society of Canada has just added one more—the 2010 Pierre Chauveau Medal for distinguished contribution to knowledge in the humanities other than Canadian literature and history.

The screenshot displays the University of Victoria user interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Welcome User', 'Sign out of UVic', 'Bookmark this page', 'My page', 'My online tools', 'Profile', and 'Help'. Below this is a blue header with the University of Victoria logo and navigation links for 'Prospective students' and 'Parents & Family'. A 'My online tools' dropdown menu is open, showing options: FAST, FAMIS, Banner, Webmail, and E-mail. An arrow points from the text box to this menu. On the left, a sidebar contains 'User', 'Sign out of UVic', 'Personal profile', and a 'Collections' section with links to Exchange Mail, Events and Dates, Announcements, Bookmarks, Quicklinks, and options to add content or change collection options. Below the sidebar are sections for 'Library', 'Research', and 'Employee Services'. The main content area features an 'Exchange Mail' window with an 'Inbox' tab and a table of messages. Below it is an 'Events and Dates' window. To the right is an 'Announcements' window with tabs for 'Important', 'FYI', and 'Your Sources', displaying a notice about upcoming campus flu shot clinics.

The screenshot shows the University of Victoria website interface. At the top right, there is a green button labeled "Sign out of UVic". Below the navigation bar, a callout box with a green background and a blue border contains the text: "13. For security reasons, please sign out of UVic and exit your web browser when you are finished. Navigating away from a UVic web site will not automatically sign you out of UVic." Two blue arrows originate from this callout: one points to the "Sign out of UVic" link in the top navigation bar, and the other points to the "Sign out of UVic" link in the user profile dropdown menu on the left side of the page. The page content includes a navigation menu with categories like "Prospective students", "Parents & counsellors", "Prospective faculty & staff", "Alumni & donors", "Visitors", and "Current students, faculty & staff". A central "Exchange Mail" section displays an "Inbox" with a table of messages. On the right, an "Announcements" section features a "Your Sources" tab and a notice about "Upcoming campus flu shot clinics" with a list of dates and locations.
