

Privacy, Records Management and Personal Information Security

Privacy enables members of the university community to control their personal information. In order to protect personal information, the university needs to know its records holdings (paper and electronic) and manage the resources systematically. Reasonable electronic and physical security of personal information are prerequisites and necessary supports for the protection of privacy.

