Hello everyone! My name is Isaac La Roy, and I am a first-year student studying political science at the University of Victoria. Being active in the university community is something I enjoy, and my work in the UVic Model United Nations has reinforced my passion for speaking and debating. When I’m not engaging with my friends in conversations they may or may not want to have, I am usually found playing sports or being a referee for hockey.

Over the course of my time in high school, I was delighted to be a part of many student government initiatives and leadership teams. Since attending my first, and only, leadership conference two years ago, I have genuinely grown to love the atmosphere of leadership as well as connecting and working with other students. One day in the future, I hope to use these skills to become a Lawyer.

If I am elected to the senate, I will use my skills of being able to connect with students to advocate for everyone equally.

I promise to:

● Make sure that professors understand mental health is an appropriate excuse for the late submission of assignments, quizzes, papers, and other academic materials.
● Advocate on behalf of all students to ensure that their voices are heard on the Senate.
● Ensure that the textbooks professors require for courses are reasonably priced and that once those textbooks are purchased they are used to the fullest extent.

Please consider casting your ballot, and voting for me!
