The Health Sciences Initiative (HSI) is a joint activity of the Offices of the Vice-President Academic and Provost and the Vice-President Research. The purpose of the initiative is to develop a set of strategies to expand and raise the profile of health research, programs, and related activities at UVic through consultation and engagement with internal and external stakeholders. Thank you to all those who attended our first townhall and to all who have contributed so far.

The HSI advisory committee is developing a set of draft recommendations in support of the above goals, which will be articulated in a Concept Paper. Recognizing the importance of ongoing campus consultation throughout this process, we are providing an opportunity for academic leaders, faculty members and students to review and provide feedback on some of our draft recommendations at our second townhall.

The session details are as follows:

Health Science Initiatives Town Hall # 2
Date: April 2, 2019
Time: 3 – 4:30 pm
Location: Medical Sciences Building Room 160

This Town Hall will share draft recommendations and an opportunity to participate in facilitated discussion with members of the advisory committee around the draft recommendations. If you are unable to attend, have not yet had the opportunity to comment on the HSI, or have suggestions, please forward them to hsi2018@uvic.ca or to any members of the HSI Advisory Committee.

Please feel free to share this information with your colleagues. More information on the health sciences initiative, process to-date, and a list of advisory committee members can be found on the health sciences initiative webpage. Please RSVP your intention to attend at HSI2018@uvic.ca.

We look forward to your continued engagement with the initiative.
